Nixon criticized, not welcome at labor gathering

By United Press International

AFL-CIO President George Meany, whose 1972 coziness with President Nixon has melted under the rising prices of Phases III and IV, told the chief executive Sunday he would not be welcome at the labor organization's annual convention next month in Miami Beach.

"He is not entitled to an invitation because of his conduct at our last convention when he was very discourteous to us," Meany said.

He also said he would oppose Vice President Spiro T. Agnew if he runs for President in 1976.

Meany spoke on ABC's "Issues and Answers" on the eve of America's 80th Labor Day.

The presidents of the large autoworkers and steelworkers unions joined Meany in an attack on Nixon's economic policies, while Labor Secretary Peter J. Brennan said "great strides" have been made toward improving the economy since last Labor Day.

Brennan said, "There are still problems facing our economy, but we have made great strides in our efforts to restore the economy to good health."

He said a record high 85 million persons have jobs, an increase of nearly 3 million over the past year and the largest gain in almost 18 years. Moreover, he said, unemployment is now at 4.7 per cent, the lowest rate in more than three years.

United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock, who is in Detroit today for contract negotiations with the Chrysler Corp., said:

"The reality of this Labor Day is the lack of responsive answers—answers to the needs and the day-to-day problems of the American people. The 'business of the people' has fallen on hard times while the business of the great corporations prospers as never before."

Woodcock spoke on NBC's "Meet the Press."

He said a strike by 127,500 U.S. and Canadian autoworkers Sept. 15 could be avoided if Chrysler would display "a little ingenuity and imagination" on the key issue of voluntary overtime.

United Steel Workers President I.W. Abel said that even worse than the high cost of living for Americans whose wage increases are limited, is that "there is no end in sight. The Nixon administration has offered no workable program."

In his statement, Abel added that American labor is outraged "over the concentration of arrogance in high places symbolized by the Watergate."

Meany said Agnew's attitude toward "the little people of this country has been rather overbearing and I would be very unhappy if he became President."

The gruff leader of organized labor said "agents of the White House" were responsible for last fall's brouhaha at the AFL-CIO convention when Nixon accused Meany of being disrespectful.

Nixon, Agnew should resign, Nader asserts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ralph Nader says President Nixon and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew should resign in order to prevent "more paralysis of government."

The consumerist and public interest lawyer said Sunday, "The country would really be well served if these two officials would resign."

"I think enough has now been admitted or proved to indicate that Watergate was the massive tip of an iceberg that involved burglary and forgeries and sabotaging the election and selling government to corporate and other business contributors in a sort of mutual game of shakedowns and extortion and bribery," he said.

Nader said he thought Nixon consciously tried to avoid learning details about Watergate and the subsequent effort to cover up administration involvement.

"He knew enough not to want to know what was going on and that is a level of unaccountability and irresponsibility that I think should cause a resignation," Nader said.

"Otherwise, what will happen over the next year is more disclosures, more lawsuits, more uncertainty, more coverups, more turmoil, more paralysis of government. And that's strictly the alternative before us and the country will suffer."

He was not specific about why Agnew should resign, though he said both men failed to "manage a great deal of trust in government and are not "using government for fulfilling the needs of the people."

Head-on crash kills Chinoan

GLENDORA (UPI) — A 29-year-old Chino man died Sunday night in a two-car head-on collision in which nine other persons were injured.

Thomas Thorkildsen was driving a jeep without a top northbound on California 39 when a car driven by Agustin Aquilar, 39, jumped the divider line and hit Thorkildsen's jeep head-on.

The accident occurred near Crystal Lake in the San Gabriel Mountains northeast of here.

Four passengers in Thorkildsen's jeep were injured. They were Ginger Caligiuri, 27, and her children, Amy, 9, Mose, 8, and Sharon, 6.

Four passengers in Aguilar's car were also injured. They were Jesus Ocampo, 21, Jose Garcia, 23, Fernando Pireto, 15, all of Los Angeles, and a fourth unidentified person, who was in critical condition at Glendora Community Hospital.

Aquilar was taken into custody and transferred to Los Angeles County-USC Medical Center.

Man accused of impersonating an officer

ONTARIO — A Monrovia man, who attempted to have a friend of his released from West End Jail by impersonating a Los Angeles Police Department narcotics officer Sunday afternoon, was arrested by West End sheriff's deputies.

Robert William Figolah Jr., 23, of Monrovia, this morning found himself in jail booked on a charge of impersonating an officer, while his friend, Roger Sullivan, 24, also of Monrovia, was released pending an appearance in West Valley Municipal Court on a charge of drunk in public.

Deputies said that Sullivan was arrested early Sunday morning at the Ontario Motor Speedway on the simple drunk charge, and lodged in the West End Jail. About 2:30 p.m. Figolah walked in the sheriff's office clicking a pair of handcuffs behind him, claiming to be a Los Angeles narcotics officer and asking for Sullivan's release.

Deputies became suspicious, discovered he was not an officer and arrested him.

Storm Delia nears hurricane strength; heads for Louisiana

MIAMI (UPI) —Tropical Storm Delia built toward expected hurricane strength over the Gulf of Mexico today on a course that would take it into the Louisiana coast.

The National Weather Service in New Orleans said that "watches and possibly gale warnings will likely be posted later today for portions of the Northern Gulf coast."

Delia, with highest winds of 60 miles an hour, was located at 6 a.m. EDT near latitude 25.0 north, longitude 89.0 west, or about 340 miles south-southeast of New Orleans. It was moving north-northwest at about 10 m.p.h.

"Conditions remain favorable for Delia to strengthen and it will likely reach hurricane intensity by late today or tonight," the latest advisory warned.

The season's third tropical storm, Christine, also boasting 60 m.p.h. winds, was in the Atlantic about 130 miles east of Guadaloupe this morning.

That storm was expected to brush the Leeward Islands this afternoon and pass north of Guadaloupe.

The storm's latest location, pinpointed by the San Juan Weather Bureau, was near latitude 16.1 north, longitude 58.9 west, and moving to the west-northwest at about 9 m.p.h.

The weather bureau predicted some local flooding in the Leewards and heavy shower activity in the Leewards and the Windward Islands as a result of the storm.

Pullout from Taiwan begins

TAIPEI, Taiwan (UPI) —As the first step in President Nixon's promise to Communist China to reduce U.S. troops stationed on Taiwan, a contingent of about 3,000 U.S. Air Force transport men have begun leaving Nationalist China.

The Nationalist China Defense Ministry said the remainder of the U.S. Air Force transport unit stationed here will be withdrawn "according to plans."

In Honolulu, Adm. Noel Gayler, commander in chief of U.S. Pacific military forces, announced Sunday that the 374th Tactical Airlift Wing, about 3,000 men, would be located in U.S. bases from Taiwan over the next several months.

A brief announcement by the Taiwanese Defense Ministry Sunday said part of the unit had already left and "withdrawal of the remaining part will continue according to plans."

Military sources said one of the four C130 squadrons comprising 16 planes had been moved out of Taiwan and personnel had been reduced by about 1,000 men.

The withdrawal of the 374th Tactical Airlift Wing will reduce the number of American military personnel in Taiwan to about 3,000, most of them "housekeeping logic personnel" manning noncombatant jobs in military post offices, banks and post exchanges.

Policeman attacked at OMS, injured by hostile crowd

ONTARIO — An Ontario police officer, assisting firemen putting out bonfires in the west parking lot of the Ontario Motor Speedway early Sunday, was attacked by a hostile rock and bottle throwing crowd.

Officer Dennis Finley, called to the speedway parking lot to assist firemen arguing with about 70 to 100 individuals throwing beer cans into a bonfire, suffered a head injury when the crowd suddenly turned on the police and firemen. The officers were pelted by dozens of rocks and bottles.

Finley requested assistance from other police officers after his car was damaged by the rock and bottle throwing crowd. Finley reported getting out of the car and being struck in the back of the head with a thrown rock. Firemen reported the hostile crowd was throwing rocks and bottles at their vehicles. When other officers arrived to aid Finley and the firemen, they found Finley temporarily blinded and dazed. His police unit's windows were smashed.

Firemen, despite the angry crowd, extinguished the bonfire. Amidst shouts of profanity and the shower of rocks and bottles police arrested two men who were later booked in West End jail on suspicion of disturbing the peace. Arrested were Michael Jason Worthing, 24, of 10822 Vernon Ave., Ontario, and William Gene Palmer, 19, of Fairbanks, Alaska.

Finley was given first aid treatment by firemen and released from duty.

Shortly before the rock and bottle throwing incident, police reported investigating another incident in the OMS west parking lot involving two men who said they were attacked by several other men wielding beer bottles, at 11:53 p.m. Saturday.

Police said that Joseph Leonard Riedle, 19, and Sam Bleven, 19, both from the Long Beach Naval Base suffered minor head injuries in the altercation.

Other than the attack on Finley and the assault on the two naval enlisted men, police said the crowd at the speedway before and after the race was generally orderly.

Two minor traffic accidents at Fourth Street and Vineyard Avenue, and on the San Bernardino Freeway-Archibald Avenue overpass following the race slowed exiting traffic, police said. Sgt. John Powers of the Ontario Police Department's traffic bureau said that most of the racing fans were on their way home within an hour and 20 minutes from the time the race ended.

Vessel grounded on a mud bank near N. Orleans

PHOENIX, La. (UPI) —Coast Guard helicopters made more than 200 bombing raids on a burning ship in the Mississippi River today, trying to smother a chemical so dangerous its fumes can eat away human flesh.

"So far we've been able to control the fire on the forward half of the ship and this is where it's really important to us because that is the part that contains eight tons of tetraethyl lead," Coast Guard spokesman Dave Cipra said.

"Very little of the fire is actually out, but one half is under control."

Five tons of fire extinguishing powder were dropped on the ship grounded in a mud bank 50 miles downriver from New Orleans.

The river was closed to all traffic between New Orleans and the Gulf of Mexico and 500 area residents were evacuated.

"The stern section of the ship, which had the first fire on board, we've had no results on that at all," Cipra said. "We've been repeatedly bombarding it with chemicals but have had no success at all.

"This is the section that contains calcium carbide and this is the chemical that releases acetylene gas when it's in contact with water.

"Acetylene gas is an explosive and that's what has been a problem to us the whole time because we can't fight it in a conventional manner."

The fire extiniguishant was dropped in 50-pound pods from a helicopter driven by Capt. Robert Russell, the commanding officer of the Coast Guard Air Station at New Orleans, as he hovered a few feet above the burning ship.

"The pods, we hope, will fall into the hold and once reaching the heat and fire, will melt or burst into the fire and put it out," Cipra said.

The ship, called the Key Largo, was carrying tetraethyl lead to Miami. It was run aground 50 miles south of New Orleans.

"This chemical is definitely tetraethyl lead, a highly toxic, extremely toxic, unbelievably toxic," Cipra said. "The fumes can destroy human tissue."

The fire broke out early in the day but at 2:25 p.m. the crew reported it was under control. At 3 p.m., Capt. Diego Ruiz, the ship's master, gave orders to run it aground and abandon ship.

"I kept on the ship, but the smoke make me feel very bad," Ruiz said. "I started coughing. I got off the ship around 5 p.m.,"

He said he hoped the ship could be saved but he didn't know for sure.

"I could cry," he said. "It is a real disappointment. You can't understand."

Capt. Stanley Huber, a river pilot, was at the wheel of the ship when it caught fire.

Area residents living on the east bank of the river were evacuated and housed at the Pointe-a-la-Hache civic center where they were given cots and fed sandwiches, coffee and cookies.

Follows nationalization

Libyan oil price to double

BEIRUT (UPI) —The price of Libyan crude oil will be nearly doubled as a result of the nationalization of 51 per cent of six Western oil firms during the weekend, Libyan Prtmier Abdel Salem Jalloud said.

He also said Libya would no longer accept U.S. dollars in payment for its oil.

Other oil sources indicated Western companies may encounter similar nationalization measures in the Persian gulf states.

At a late-night news conference Sunday broadcast by Tripoli Radio, Jalloud said Libya wanted $6 a barrel for its oil—almost double the current price and more than double the $2.50 paid to Persian Gulf oil producers.

"Libya will no longer accept payment in U.S. dollars," he said. "The dollar has lost its value and we want a currency that is convertible to gold."

Libya announced Saturday it was nationalizing 51 per cent of five of the "major" oil companies operating in Libya. The companies were producing around 2.2 million barrels of oil a day, which automatically gives Libya control of 1.2 million barrels a day, oil sources said.

(In New York, oil company spokesmen said the United States consumes about 12 million barrels of oil a day. They said only a small fraction of Libyan oil is exported to the United States with the rest going to Europe.)

Jalloud said the flow of Libyan oil would continue uninterrupted and said Libya would fulfil its current supply contracts.

Five of the six companies forced Saturday to turn over 51 per cent control of their operations to the Libyan government were U.S. owned and the Arabs already have urged using oil as a weapon against the United States for its support of Israel in the Middle East crisis.

Petroleum sources in Tripoli, the Libyan capital, said oil-rich countries such as Abu Dhabi, Qatar and Saudi Arabia may follow Libya's lead and demand a revision of their "participation" and price agreements with the Western companies.

In a broadcast by Tripoli Radio, Libyan Premier Maj. Abdel Salam Jalloud Sunday advised Washington not to intervene in Libya's weekend takeover. He assured consumers, however, that the flow of Libyan oil will continue uninterrupted despite the nationalization and that compensation would be paid to the companies.

Oldest man in world dies at age 168

MOSCOW (UPI) —Shirali Mislimov's formula for a long and happy life was an easy one —a slow pace, clear air, natural food, a kind heart and work.

The Soviets say the formula was a good one—it kept him going 168 years, making him the world's oldest person.

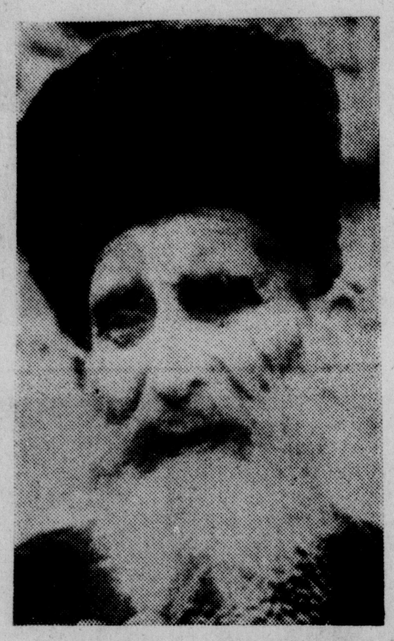
Sunday, the official Tass news agency announced Mislimov's death. In contrast to the thousands of words written about him in his lifetime, Mislimov's death was reported in a two-sentence dispatch. It said:

"The planet's oldest person, Azerbaijan peasant Shirali Mislimov, 168, died today after a serious illness. He died in his bed in the mountain village of Barzavu (Caucasus) where he has lived all his life."

Mislimov suffered pneumonia last winter, the first serious illness of his life, according to Soviet newspapers.

In recent years, each birthday was an opportunity for the craggy-faced, bearded peasant to tell Soviet reporters his philosophy of life.

"I was never in a hurry in my life," he said in 1971. "And I'm in no hurry to die now."



SHIRALI MISLIMOV

He tried smoking once—150 years ago—but got sick after three or four puffs. The only time he tried whiskey, he said, was in 1831. "I thought I was burning inside," he said.

His long life formula was delivered in the poetic language of his native Azerbaijani mountains.

"There are two sources of long life," he said. "One is a gift of nature, and it is the pure air and clean water of the mountains, the fruit of the earth, peace, rest, the soft and warm climate of the highlands.

"The second source is people. He lives long who enjoys life and who bears no jealousy of others, whose heart harbors no malice or anger, who sings a lot and cries a little, who rises and retires with the sun, who likes to work and who knows how to rest."

Mislimov, who had no birth records to back his age claim, is survived by his 107-year-old third wife, Hartun, and 219 other family members.

Middle East wants peace-- U.N. chief

By United Press International

U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim said Sunday Israeli and Arab leaders he met on a five-nation tour each told him they hoped for a peaceful solution to the Middle East crisis, "but the problem is how to realize this peace."

Israel, meanwhile, announced plans to restrict Arab labor in territory occupied in the 1967 Middle East war and established an industrial zone in occupied West Jordan.

Waldheim arrived in the Jordanian capital of Amman Sunday and planned to meet today with Palestinian leaders before winding up his five-nation trip.

He said that he arrived in the Middle East at a "difficult moment" in attempts to negotiate an end to the conflict, but "as the U.N. Secretary General I am always optimistic.

"Everybody has told me of their wish to reach a peaceful solution of the crisis," Waldheim said, "but the problem is how to realize this peace."

Waldheim planned his first meeting today with Palestinian leaders during a visit to a refugee camp, political sources in Amman said.

His trip included a helicopter flight over Jordan's frontlines with Israel and a visit to the Bakaa refugee camp to check on living conditions.

The camp leaders said they would present Waldheim with a petition demanding the restoration of their rights and property in Israel, political sources said.

The refugee camp trip in Jordan marked the end of Waldheim's Middle East tour, which also took him to Syria, Lebanon, Israel and Egypt.

In Jerusalem, the Israeli cabinet issued a communique Sunday that said an industrial zone was established in the Anatot area north of Jerusalem, a largely unpopulated region.

It also said Arab workers will be restricted in about 40 Jewish agricultural settlements, an apparent move to decrease Israeli dependence on Arab labor.

Convict on leave held as suspect in Copenhagen hotel fire; 35 die

COPENHAGEN (UPI) — Police seized a convict on leave from prison Sunday as an arson suspect in a raging fire that flashed a tower of flames through a downtown Copenhagen hotel, trapping dozens of sleeping tourists.

Authorities said 35 persons, including 20 Americans, died in the inferno early Saturday morning and charged that the 19th Century Hafnia hotel building was unsafe.

"The hotel was a fire trap and we several times warned Danish building authorities about this as well as other hotels of the old-fashioned type here," said Jan Amnizboell, chief of the Copenhagen fire department.

"They have no fire alarms, no iron doors, no sprinkler water pumps and not sufficient emergency doors," he said.

Police said the suspect, Bent Willy Nielsen, a 33-year-old convict, was on temporary leave from prison under a program common in Scandavian countries.

Police said Nielsen was among 88 persons who stayed at the hotel Friday night and was identified by an American couple, who charged that he said, "I'm sorry for this. I started it—it was my fault." Nielsen denied the charges.

A police spokesman said many of the guests were trapped on the upper floors of the building because "the elevator shaft was burning like a candle."

He said an American man tried to save his wife and two children by putting them in a bathtub filled with cold water.

All four were found dead. The man was sprawled across the tub, shielding his huddled family.

The fire was described by authorities as the worst hotel blaze in the city since World War II. Guests who survived described it as a horror story.

"I heard an explosion and then all turned into a nightmare," said one survivor, Dr. Arnauld Huddrant, 45, of Wolverhampton, England.

"The windows in my hotel room shattered and an orange flash-like fire from a torchburner poured into my room," he said. "I ran for my life through the dwindling and burning corridors and heard people scream among the flames in their rooms."

Congress back on Wednesday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress ends its month-long summer vacation Wednesday still under the shadow of Watergate and facing leftover business of presidential vetoes and power battles.

Leaders of the 93rd Congress say they hope to finish the first session by mid-October, but some members predict the session will stretch into December bogged down by the issues of impoundment, defense spending, tax reform and aid to education.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee will open hearings on Henry A. Kissinger's nomination as secretary of state Friday.

The Senate Watergate committee, which has given itself until early December to wind up testimony, plans to meet Sept. 10 and resume hearings the week of Sept. 17.

Congress may try to pass a fuel oil allocation bill aimed at making sure the East coast gets a fair share of heating oil this winter. But not much other action is expected on the energy crisis, food shortage or high prices.

The Senate will take up a House-passed treasury-postal appropriations bill designed to cut off a $1 million special projects budget for the White House and require congressional approval before tax revenues could be spent on privately owned presidential homes.

The House has scheduled action on State Department budget authorizations, home loan and flood insurance programs and continued operation of Amtrak.

When the lawmakers adjourned Aug. 3 they had ended bombing in Cambodia, passed a 5.9 per cent raise in social security benefits, agreed on a federal highway program and an increase in the minimum wage.

President Nixon vetoed five measures in the first seven months. Four of them were sustained and the House will vote on Sept. 12 on the fifth, an emergency medical services measure which the Senate has already voted to override.

Nixon is expected to veto the bill to raise the $1.60 an hour minimum wage to $2.20 this week.

GREENWICH, Conn. (UPI) —Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., R-Conn., a member of the Senate Watergate Committee, has no intention of seeking a higher office, and said no other figure should try to use favorable publicity gained during the Watergate case to do so, it was reported Sunday.

"If any man uses Watergate to capitalize on his political future," Weicker said, "we'll have failed in part of our job to further the truth."

In a published report in Sunday's New Haven Register, Weicker said he is lucky to be a senator and he hopes to be elected for a second term.

Wall street building hit

NEW YORK (UPI) —An explosion ripped through a four-story building in New York's Wall St. area Sunday, injuring one person and blowing out the entire facade of the structure.

Fire officials, sweating in the hot weather and choking dust, dug through the rubble to find out what caused the blast. A fire department official said it could have been a gas leak —or an explosive device. "We are not closing the doors on any possibility," he said.

The explosion would have caused a disaster had it occcured during a weekday when the office building is usually congested. The blast blew out the front facade and rear wall of the structure and shattered windows which triggered burglar alarms in a two block area. Ten other buildings were damaged in the area.

"Thank God this happened on a weekend," said Fire Capt. Joseph Weitekamp. "This area would have been mobbed during a weekday at the time the explosion took place."

Fourth day of UFO sightings with glow across Georgia sky

MANCHESTER, Ga. (UPI) — Two policemen said they had spotted a "white glowing object" with blue lights speeding across the horizon early today. It was the fourth straight day Georgia residents have reported seeing unidentified flying objects.

Two state troopers said they used binoculars to track the latest UFO near this West Georgia town. They said the craft had a "blue and a white light on either side and something hanging underneath."

Local authorities reported about 20 phone calls from other persons claiming to have seen the UFO.

A newspaper publisher in Camilla photographed one of the objects Saturday night.

Chester A. Tatum, publisher of the Sowega Free Press, said the craft had a "ribbed type design" and hovered some 1,000 feet above land.

Military authirities have refused comment about the rash of UFO sightings.

John Wayne toasts dying Ford

By STEWART SLAVIN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —The day before Academy Award-winning film director John Ford died, his old friend John Wayne was with him, offering a last toast to the man who "was my heart."

It was a meeting of two giants of the movie industry. But perhaps the setting might better have been in the quiet back country of southern Utah, in the Monument Valley, each of them riding horses.

It was there that Ford brought the Western film during the 1930s, bolting from the fake Hollywood sound stages to give Westerns authenticity and show man's heroism, capabilities and fortitude in a natural setting.

"This man was my heart," Wayne said of Ford, recalling the last nostalgic visit with the man he called "Pappy," who lifted Wayne from a gangly young actor with a lopsided grin into the role of Western hero in the 1938 classic "Stagecoach."

"I've never been closer to any person in my life than I have been with Jack," Wayne said, his voice cracking. "There was a communion between us that not many men have—as a matter of fact there were three of us, Ward (Bond), Jack and myself."

Wayne and Ford talked about the loss of Bond, who appeared in many of Ford's films and died of a heart attack in 1960.

"When I went to visit Jack the day before he left, he asked me, 'Do you miss Ward?'" Wayne said.

"I sure do Jack," Wayne replied, "and Jack said, well you're probably on the death watch anyway."

"No, you're the coach, you're the anchor; you'll bury us all," Wayne said to comfort his aging friend.

"Well," replied Ford, growing tired, "I'll try to stick around a little while longer."

Then Wayne suggested a toast, some brandy.

"I poured him a little drink and he said, 'all right now, I'll take a little nap," recalls Wayne.

Ford, the tough, 78-year-old patched-eye director who won six Academy Awards—more than any other American director—died the next day, Friday, after a long battle with cancer.

"Jack was a warm kind human being with a mighty rough exterior, and I loved him," Wayne said.

"He was a great talent, but he was also a wonderful man who knew how to handle talent better than anyone we've ever had in the business," the actor said.

Ford, who directed more than 200 films in a career spanning six decades and perhaps best known as the father of the American western epic, will be buried Wednesday in Culver City, California.

Rosary will be recited Tuesday in Blessed Sacrament Church, Hollywood. Cardinal Timothy Manning will officiate at the requiem Mass in the same church Wednesday morning.

Bandit robs bar, line of customers

POMONA — A man with a .45-caliber pistol fired a shot into the wall at the Viking tavern Sunday night and fled with money taken from the cash register and seven customers.

The holdup occurred shortly after 11:30. The robber, described as white, in his late 20s with brown hair and a brown mustache, fled on foot after warning everyone to not to follow him. The tavern is at 214 W. Holt ave.

Police reported that the man drank two beers and ordered a third before he pulled the gun on the barmaid, Caroline Ann Henthorn, 34. She said at first she thought he was joking but realized he wasn't and gave him money from the cash register. The the robber walked down the line of men sitting at the bar and took money from them. The shot, which blew up a glass globe, was fired when one patron was slow about giving up his money, $7.

When he was ready to leave, the robber forced another customer to break the tavern telephone to prevent the police being called.

The gunman was wearing a light suede jacket and tan trousers. He was about 5 feet 8 and weighed 150 pounds.

Hiker falls in canyon, is rescued

AZUSA — Randy Hughes, 19, Reseda, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Glendora Community Hospital where he was being treated for injuries suffered in a fall in San Gabriel Canyon near Lewis Falls.

Hughes slipped on shale while hiking Saturday afternoon and tumbled 50 feet down an embankment. He suffered injuries to his head and legs.

Members of the San Dimas Search and Rescue Team had to carry the victim out on a stretcher.

His horseplay proved costly

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — Dwain E. Llewellyn has found it doesn't pay to try to pick up some dogs by the ears.

Police said Llewellyn slipped behind a dog named Trooper recently and pulled him by his ears. Trooper, a member of the Norfolk Police Department's K9 corps, bit Llewellyn on the left leg.

Then his handler, patrolman E. C. Goumenis, charged Llewellyn with drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

The largest port on the Pacific Coast is Los Angeles-Long Beach.

At campgrounds

Car pins sleeping child inside tent

AZUSA — A 3-year-old child was run over by a car while he slept in a tent at Shady Oak Campgrounds in San Gabriel Canyon.

The victim, Richard Roy Martinez, Maywood, was reported in fair condition to day at Foothill Presbyterian Hospital in Glendora. He was being treated for head, chest and internal injuries.

The child's father, Paul Martinez, 30, told sheriff's deputies that a family friend, Mrs. Ines Alonzo, 43, Bell, was removing picnic equipment from her car parked uphill from the tent when the car began rolling. Before anyone could stop it, it ran into the tent, pinning th little boy.

The child was driven two miles to Williams Campgrounds where a telephone was available. Sheriff's deputies arrived and took him to the hospital in a radio car.

Political dirty tricks old stuff in S. Korea

By PHIL NEWSOM

Political dirty tricks are old stuff in South Korea and go considerably beyond the business of throwing tomatoes or rotten eggs at opposition candidates.

The latter is practiced but is considered minor league.

Nor do the so-called dirty tricks end when the campaign is over.

The losers and their prominent supporters may very well find themselves in jail on any of a variety of charges ranging from violation of South Korea's stringent anti-communist laws to bribery.

The high cost of opposition did not originate with South Korea's present generation of politicians.

Syngman Rhee, South Korea's first president, had a longtime history as a revolutionary during the years of Japanese occupation. It is said that during one of his periods of imprisonment his jailers inserted burning splinters under his fingernails.

Blow on fingers

For years afterward during periods of contemplation he would blow absent mindedly on his fingers as if to cool his damaged nails.

Kim Dae Jung is a Korean politician and central figure in a dramatic example of a Korean political dirty trick.

In broad daylight six Koreans kidnaped him from his Tokyo hotel room, spirited him by automobile to Japan's south coast and then placed him aboard a cargo vessel.

Some days later they dumped him alive but bruised in an alley near his home in Seoul.

Kim noted that his captors had acted with the cool efficiency of professionals, and there seemed no doubt the reason for their actions had been Kim's sharp criticism of the Korean government led by President Chung Hee Park.

Park's government denied any connection with the kidnaping but the finger of suspicion pointed at the South Korean CIA, a government agency responsible for South Korean security both outside and inside the country.

Park had defeated Kim in 1971 presidential elections but Kin had won 46 per cent of the vote.

Continues attacks

Kim left Korea in October, 1972, after Park's declaration of martial law and assumption of virtually unlimited powers, and continued his attacks on the Park government in Japan and the United States.

In the United States various harassing tactics had been used against him and others opposing the Park government, so much so that the United States on various occasions had discussed the matter with officials of the Korean embassy.

South Korea's CIA drew international attention in 1967 when it was accused of masterminding the abduction of 17 South Korean dissidents from West Germany.

At present it is run by Lee Hu Rak, described as South Korea's most powerful man next to President Park.

He has represented the president in talks with communist North Korea and is noted as a behind-the-scenes negotiator. In a confrontation with prominent South Korean army generals last spring he came out on top and the generals went to jail.

When Rak's name is mentioned in Seoul, it is in whispers.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You are going to shirk responsibilities today. You're not going to get away with it, though you think you will.

TAURUS (April 20-May 10) This is not a good day for you to try to borrow. If one does lend you something, it will have too many strings attached.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) A decision you'll make today will go over like a lead balloon with your mate or partner. Do nothing without his co-operation.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You will overreact if ordered to do anything you feel isn't your idea. You'll also be bossy towards others.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) The way you handle money matters today could end up in real problems. This is not a good day to either buy or sell.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You won't be an easy person for the family to be around today. You'll find fault too easily. Loosen up.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Count to 10 before you give that certain party a piece of your mind. Harboring a grudge is unlike you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 234-Nov. 22) Be generous today only with those who fully appreciate it. Someone expects something from you. They won't be grateful.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Take necessary cautious steps today to protect your reputation. Don't pal around with those beneath you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You tend to be selfish today, thinking of your interests before others. This behavior will cause guilt feelings.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Someone you have dealings with will pretend they are telling you everything. You must probe deeper for the facts.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Contracts or legal matters require expert handling today. Sign no documents or agreements without best advice.

An Avon lady helps crack theft ring

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —An Avon lady who noticed her stolen radio in the home of a customer helped cracked a youthful burglary ring.

Three 18-year-old youths who admitted stealing $10,000 in loot in 25 burglaries were sentenced to jail Wednesday.

Mrs. Stanley Geiser, a door-to-door saleswoman, said she saw her stolen 8-transistor radio in the home of one of the youths and reported it to deputies, who found a "pickup truck load" of stolen goods in a bedroom of the home.

Giving trick for insurance

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Jim: "Remember your old friend Generous George who was always giving away tricks but getting them back with interest? Here is a real Generous George hand."

Oswald: "It sure is. Dummy's ace of clubs wins the first trick and the jack of trumps is led. East covers with the queen and South must let that queen hold."

Jim: "George would have made a little speech: 'I just let the queen hold. I might be giving up an overtrick but I wanted to make my slam and my generosity insured the contract as long as East didn't hold all five trumps. It didn't matter what East did. I would get to ruff one club in dummy and wind up with five spades, the ace of clubs and a club ruff in dummy plus four trumps and the diamond ace in my own hand.'"

Oswald: "If he had won that first heart and ruffed a club in an effort to make seven the hand would really collapse. You would have had any number of lines of play at your disposal but none of them would allow you to make more than 11 tricks and some would have left you with only 10."

Heavy security for Algerian conferences

ALGIERS (UPI) — At first glance, the white and red brick villas dotting the hillside bordered at the top by a thicket of pine trees and marked at the bottom by the Mediterranean waters look like an exclusive Riviera-type summer resort.

But the military helicopters circling overhead and men in blue and dark green uniforms guarding all approaches to the area change the first impression almost immediately.

The spot which lies about 12 miles west of Algiers is called the Club des Pins (Club of the Pines), taking its name from the trees at the top. This is where a summit conference of more than 60 nonaligned countries from Asia, Africa, South America and Europe will meet Sept. 5-8 following preparatory sessions by experts and foreign ministers.

The helicopters and the uniformed guards are part of a massive security apparatus set in motion by the Algerian government to guard the participating heads of state and government who will stay at the villas and meet at a domed conference hall in the same area.

Foreign diplomats in Algiers believe more than 20,000 men from four different security services have been mobilized to do the job.

They include regular police wearing blue uniforms, elite forces in dark green uniforms, secret service agents in plain clothes and army troops attired as police, all are armed with pistols. Some received special courses in security techniques months before the conference.

Access to the Club des Pins requires special passes issued only after the most careful screening.

Bearing in mind the recent spate of world-wide guerrilla activity and that many of the participating leaders have enemies abroad or at home who might try to slip into Algiers to make trouble, the Algerian authorities are taking no chances.

Funny business

English medics won't budge; Hughes relents

LONDON (UPI) —Howard Hughes was "smuggled into the London Clinic" for an operation on his hip when a surgeon refused to operate in Hughes' hotel hideaway, the London Daily Express reported.

The newspaper's gossip column, written under the pseudonym of William Hickey, said Hughes broke a small bone in his hip and sent two aides to persuade an eminent surgeon to perform corrective surgery in the ninth floor hotel suite where Hughes, with characteristic secrecy, has been secluded for months.

"An operating theater would be set up" at the hotel, the newspaper said the Hughes aides told the surgeon. "A fully qualified anaesthetist would be hired. And, it goes without saying, expense was no object."

But Hughes "ran up against the immovable force of British medical etiquette," the newspaper said. The surgeon told Hughes' men "he had never operated in a hotel room and never would, no matter how high the fee."

"JAMBO" Swahili for hello. 4 spaces left as of Monday. 24 are confirmed on the October 12 departure for REVELATION AFRICA tour by TRAVELWORLD on which Florence and Bob Minto will accompany the group. Thirteen from Pomona, Covina, Los Angeles, 2 from Toronto, 4 from Dallas and balance from Atlanta and Eastern cities. September 12 a demonstration and briefing on Packing and What to Wear on Safari will be held at Pomona Travel Agency for those confirmed on the tour.

An interesting development occurred when two of the "Safarians", approximateiy age of 43, received their Small-pox, Cholera, and Yellow Fever shots all at one "sitting" from the San Bernardino County Clinic at a cost of $13.00 each person. Appointments are necessary. Must be hale and hearty... and under no other medication, a prime requisite. Check with your own doctor. We receive so many calls each week asking about shots required and if they can be doubled up. Demand scheduling by TWA and American are cheaper than one-way bus or train fares during the mid-week from October 16 to May. The new Mid-week excursion fare, also offered by United, has similar fares, $179.95 to most East Coast cities. The 7-9 return limitation permits passengers originating on Tuesday to return the following week on Tuesday, Wednesday, or Thursday. Thursday departures allow Thursday returns only. Tickets must be purchased and validated for a specific out-bound flight a minimum of 7 days before departure. A good dollar value with a minimum of limitations. Watch out for Blackout dates. Adv.

Police chief favors blimps over cruisers

LITCHFIELD PARK, Ariz. (UPI) —Police blimp patrols, hovering over traffic and fleeing robbers, might be much more effective than patrol cars, the police chief of Tempe, Ariz., believes.

Chief Arthur Fairbanks said recently the city has commissioned a $35,000 feasibility study on use of blimps in crime prevention with the Goodyear Aerospace Corp.

"Blimp patrols could see 10 times more than they could in a patrol car," he said, providing observation platforms for traffic control and directing patrol cars to crime scenes.

It was instant bad luck after mirrors broke

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Steve Cauyler broke a lot of mirrors recently, $4,000 worth, and sure enough, he immediately had some bad luck.

Cuyler was driving a truck loaded with mirrors when it overturned on the Hollywood Freeway, smashing the load and covering the rordway with shiny glass.

Officers investigating the accent discovered that Cuyler was driving without a license and was wanted for several unpaid traffic tickets, they said. He was arrested.

Inflation, strikes, shortages

Things not going well in Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — Things are not going well for most of Chile's 10 million people as services and supplies continue to break down under the government of President Salvador Allende, the world's first freely elected Communist chief of state.

Chile's common citizen is now confronted with a seemingly endless spiral of price hikes, strikes, street demonstrations and material shortages.

Bread stores and gasoline stations are guarded by police carrying submachine guns to maintain order in the lines, often blocks-long, of Chileans hopeful to get some of these rationed products.

It seems that there is a shortage of almost everything these days:

It's hard to get a drink. There is no whisky, gin or most other spirits. Wine, an export product, is scarce because bottles are not readily available.

It's hard to get a decent meal in a restaurant—there hasn't been beef available for months. The alternatives, chicken, pork and seafood, face a distribution crisis created by a truckers' strike. Chicken, by the way, is imported, frozen, from China.

The blueplate special recently at one of the best hotels in Santiago featured fried beans and eggs.

It's hard to get anywhere. Taxis are on strike and buses are scarce and crowded and also subject to stoning by angry demonstrators.

If you want to shave, bring your own razor from abroad. Only the blades are on sale here, not the razors. Also, you can't find shaving cream.

You can find toothbrushes but not toothpaste. Toilets but no toilet paper. Pipe tobacco and pipes but no matches or pipe cleaners.

Want to buy a car? There's a two-year waiting list, and few spare parts or tires.

Want to see a doctor? Wait until the doctors' strike is over.

Want to save your money? Don't put it away in a bank. Inflation, the world's highest, is currently running at one per cent per day.

Three years ago the escudo was valued at 12 to the dollar. Today it is officially 300 to the dollar. The black market rate, which more nearly reflects the real purchasing power of the escudo, is approaching 2,000 to the dollar.

You can't wash your underwear because detergents are hard to find. For that matter, it's hard to find underwear, either. Stocks in clothing stores are down to rock bottom.

Walking along streets in downtown Santiago can be an adventure. Street demonstrations have become virtually a daily affair as rival political groups explode in emotional outbursts.

The capital's highly professional police force, the "Carabineros," often has to resort to firing dozens of teargas canisters, imported from the U.S. at $8 a shell, to break up rampaging demonstrators.

It is during these episodes that the stoicism of the average Chilean citizen becomes apparent. Most go about their business as if nothing unusual is happening.

The lighter side

Sen. Sam freaks groove on Watergate

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon believes, and recent polls tend to confirm, that the public is tired of the Watergate hearings and ready to see the matter consigned to the courts.

I'm convinced, however, that for every person who is weary of Watergate there's another who is thoroughly hooked on the investigation and yearns for the hearings to resume.

You can see these poor devils during the current recess milling aimlessly around the locked and silent Caucus Room where the Watergate committee meets.

For them, life is empty, shorn of meaning by the committee's decampment.

Some are Senator Sam freaks who groove on the chairman's homilies, anecdotes and folks recitations. Deprived of their daily fix of Ervinisms, they sink into lassitude, hollow-eyed wretches scarcely more than living dead.

Others are vicarious thrillseekers whose nerve ends are set atingle by the dramatic, incisive way that Sen. Montoya eschews obfuscation and impales a witness with penetrating questions.

Denied that stimulus, they seek subtitute emotional enkindlement of auto demolition derbies.

I know a housewife, Millie Piercelobe, who goes to the television set a half dozen times a day, confused and bewildered, her mind refusing to accept the fact that the hearings aren't on.

But I doubt that anyone misses the hearings more than Fess Parker, the actor noted for his portrayal of Davy Crockett.

I recently got a letter from Parker in which he confided he is beset by a consuming desire to play the role of Sam Ervin in a television series based on the Watergate case.

Frankly, I don't see Parker in that part. It's the type of role that would better suit the talents of Richard Burton. Or maybe Woody Allen.

But Parker has his heart set on it. "Hopefully," he wrote, "I will mature enough in a few years to develop eyebrows such as Sen. Ervin's."

Casting eyebrows aside, Parker obviously has hit upon a splendid way to fill the void that will be left in so many lives when the hearings finally end.

Way to finance Valley Blvd. project proposed

POMONA — Public Works Director Ronald Kranzer will recommend to the City Council Tuesday night that Los Angeles County be asked to advance the $485,000 Pomona needs as its share of the cost for the improvement of Valley Boulevard.

Pomona has to come up with the $485,000 this fiscal year in order to qualify for $250,000 in assistance available under the Federal Aid Secondary Urban Extension (FASUE) program.

Valley is proposed to be improved from Pomona Boulevard to Grand Avenue, a stretch that touches the cities of Pomona, Industry and Walnut.

In a letter to the council, Kranzer provides a breakdown of gas tax funds available this fiscal year for public works projects and commitments.

Of $1,026,581 available for 1973-74, $300,000 is earmarked to help offset the cost of street maintenance, an additional $39,368 had been committed as of Aug. 13 for contracts and agreements.

Furthermore, the city has committed an additional $389,989 for seven other public works projects, leaving a balance of $297,224.

But Kranzer said three more projects have been programmed for 1973-74 as part of a five-year capital improvement program. Some $250,000 is needed for the realignment of White Avenue, $121,000 for the improvement of Bonita Avenue from the west city limits to Garey Avenue, and $90,000 for the construction of a pedestrian bridge at Valley and Norton Street.

Delay other work

"It is clear to see from the recap that the projects programmed for the remainder of this year can't be accomplished without some delay—final payments coming after the beginning of the next fiscal year—or partial funding from other sources," said Kranzer.

"Therefore, for the city to consider funding even one-half of the designated cost of the Valley Boulevard project would mean the postponing of the three (White, Bonita and the overcrossing) projects programmed for this year," Kranzer said.

Because of the importance of the Valley pedestrian overcrossing and the long-range commitment for the White realignment, I would recommend that the City Council approve having the staff proceed on these projects in the course of available funds," Kranzer said.

He further recommends that:

"An official request be made to have the county fund in its entirety the Valley project from Grand to Pomona Boulevard and that the city will agree to reimburse the county by a partial assignment of Pomona's Section 2106 state gas tax funds for fiscal years 1974-75 and '75-'76 in an amount not to exceed one-half the cost of the improvements within the jurisdictional boundaries of Pomona — estimated as of now at $250,000—the remaining $250,000 cost in the city would have to be considered as an allocation of Highway Through Cities funds by the county."

May cancel contract

During the consent calendar portion of the 8 p.m. meeting, the council will consider cancellation of a contract authorized Aug. 20 paying former City Administrator Ora E. Lampman $500 for the remainder of August and $1,000 a month after that for his services as a special consultant at least one day per week.

In a cover letter, Mayor Ray J. Lepire suggested the cancellation, saying the council appeared "very close" to making a selection of someone to replace Lampman, who resigned July 1.

Other matters in the consent calendar are:

—Final acceptance of the Sharkey Park development.

—Resolution awarding the contract for the resurfacing of Indian Hill Boulevard from American to Holt avenues.

—Issuance of proclamations declaring September as Junior Month and Sept. 9-15 as Square Dance Week.

Other matters scheduled for Tuesday are:

—Hearing, continued from Aug. 13, on the public necessity for formation of Underground Utility District No. 3, in Holt Avenue from Dudley Street to Hamilton Boulevard. Kranzer has asked for another continuance to Sept. 24.

—Hearing on the appeal of Planning Commission resolution granting a conditional use permit for development of an automatic car wash and gasoline service station at 1805 Indian Hill, W. D. Groth and E. C. Bauter, appellants.

—Hearing on notice to abate unsafe condition of dwelling at 1156 S. Thomas St.

—First reading of an ordinance raising the fees for impoundment and boarding of animals at the animal shelter operated by the Humane Society of Pomona Valley.

—Letter of resignation from Planning Commissioner W. R. Hagstrom.

—Request of Historical Society of Pomona Valley for use of city equipment and manpower for cleanup of brush and debris at the Palomares Adobe.

—Presentation of preliminary draft of a proposed five-year capital improvement program.

—Resolution of the Community Redevelopment Commission recommending adoption of policies and guidelines for the city's redevelopment program.

A meeting at 4 p.m. of the Tri-City Mental Health Authority's governing body will precede the Pomona council's afternoon meeting.

The council will consider the recommended increase in the per diem rate for city employes and commissioners for conferences from $25 to $40.

The council also will consiser an administration-proposed automobile allowance-mileage reimbursement for the mayor and councilmen, and a recommended police department grant for an expanded administrative service division with planning and research personnel.

The council will meet in executive session for personnel and other matters, including the appointment of members of the new youth commission, the bicentennial committee and city centennial committee.

Relief on way for those irritated by copter noise

The police helicopter started buzzing low all around this vicinity on Aug. 3 at about midnight.

It kept up constantly and at 1:30 a.m. I called the station and asked the police to please have the helicopter removed, as we were trying to sleep.

The officer said there had been three shootings over toward the west part of town and it was necessary for the helicopter to keep flying around here. It kept flying around till 2:15 a.m.

My husband will be 62 this November. He is a machinist trying to hold down a job working 10 hours a day and sometimes on Saturday. Luckily he didn't have to work Saturday, Aug. 4.

As I have a bad heart condition, I have to take medicine for it and to be able to sleep at nights. Also I have allergy problems which make me very nervous.

We are having constant problems with dogs barking all night long. Some nights are worse than others. So when a quiet night comes along, we would appreciate very much not to be bothered with the loud noise from the helicopter. That is a peace disturbance and also a waste of gasoline.—Mrs. H. J., Pomona.

Forest P. Wallick, Pomona's police chief, reports that for 100 minutes on the night of Aug. 3, the helicopter assisted in the search for suspects in a fatal shooting and also assisted in the arrest of 10 persons by using the light numerous times.

In making a search with the helicopter, the chief explains, it is necessary to fly in wide circles or back and forth, depending on the area where the suspects are located. He says he is sure the helicopter did fly close to or over your home several times during the search.

The police department hopes to cut the noise of the helicopter by approximately 60 per cent by installing a muffler which should go into production in three or four months.

Chief Wallick expressed regret that you were annoyed by the sound of the helicopter.

Almost three years ago Los Angeles Airways, an airline that I was working for, went bankrupt. I filed my case with the state labor commissioner indicating that I had close to $400 in due wages.

I have not yet received this money.

I am familiar with the red tape of governmental agencies and the time it consumes but I feel that three years is long enough to withhold a man's wages from him.—L.B., Pomona.

"Sorry we cannot shed brighter rays of hope but we have done everything possible under the law," a California Department of Industrial Relations representative wrote to you following an inquiry from Action Line.

After delving into the complexity of bankruptcy laws, he pointed out that administrative costs are always paid first in any bankruptcy. He didn't hold out much hope that there would be additional assets to pay the wage claims.

A year ago we had a patio installed. It consisted of a cement slab, roof and a three-foot wall.

A few days after the workers had left, we found one of the top bricks was loose enough to fall and break.

We called the man in charge. He said he would take care of it. He never did, even though we called him numerous times.

About two months ago, we discovered a section of the wall was very loose. He said he would fix it as soon as he could. Weeks passed and we called the president of the company. We received promises but no action.

Three times there has been a near accident because of the loose wall. We simply cannot get anywhere with anyone involved with this situation.—Mr. and Mrs. M.R., Diamond Bar.

A few days after we wrote to the company president, you wrote to let us know that your patio had been repaired.

Later a company representative informed us that the subcontractor who was responsible for the work had taken care of the repairs.

Preschool program will operate here

POMONA — The state preschool program will be in operation in four Pomona schools this fall for children too young to attend kindergarten.

Classes will be limited to 20 children each and will be taught at Alcott, Allison, Kellogg and San Jose elementary schools.

Registration will be on a first-come, first-serve basis, according to Judy Sneed, district preschool specialist who is coordinating this program.

Qualifications for enrollment are similar to those for Head Start, with the Department of Public Social Services certifying eligibility.

Classes will meet from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. A hot lunch will be served each day.

Transportation will not be provided so parents interested in enrolling their children must be able to arrange private transportation.

Registration will be held at the preschool office at Kingsley Elementary School, 1170 Washington Ave. beginning Tuesday. The office will be open daily from 8:30 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4:30 p.m. The telephone number is 623-5251, extension 317.

Ornamental iron course offered again

POMONA — The Pomona Adult School again this fall will offer one of its most popular classes, ornamental ironwork.

It will begin Tuesday, Sept. 11, in the metal shop at Garey High School. Enrollments are being accepted now in the Adult School office of the District Education Center at 800 S. Garey Ave.

The class is open to anyone 18 or over.

It will meet each Tuesday and Thursday from 6:45 to 10:15 p.m. There is a $5 per person lab fee and a $2.25 registration fee.

James Melton is the instructor.

The Garey metal shop contains the necessary equipment for the wrought-iron work, Melton said. In the past, students have turned out projects ranging from furniture to railings and fences.

Heavy penalties await drivers without red tabs

California car owners who failed to obtain 1973 registration stickers for their vehicles may face heavy penalties.

Highway patrolmen have been requested to cite drivers of those vehicles whose license plates do not bear the bright red tabs that indicate current registration, said Robert C. Cozens, director of the state Department of Motor Vehicles.

Operating an unregistered vehicle is a misdemeanor that normally requires a fine, he explained. In addition, once caught the owner is required to register and pay a 100 per cent penalty for violating the Feb. 2 deadline.

As a last resort, the unregistered vehicle cam be impounded.

Each year, renewal is complicated by those car owners who have failed to register their vehicles during the previous year, said Cozens.

Often vehicle purchasers are faced with being held responsible for the fees and penalties for the past year.

"A recent survey of city police departments proves there has been no breakdown on the part of local law enforcement officials," he added.

"Their traffic officers and meter maids are ticketing everyone that comes to their attention. However, we are asking for this special enforcement check by the California Highway Patrol to clean up our records for the 1974 renewal processing."

Pomona schools begin new year on Sept. 12

POMONA — With a new curriculum emphasis on both the elementary and high school levels Pomona schools will begin the fall semester on Sept. 12.

A greater emphasis on personalization of instruction will be seen at all grade levels as well as a stress on career orientation extending the high school into the community.

Pomona schools will offer remedial math and reading at the high school level and the use of learning centers will allow students to progress at their own rate with day-by-day diagnostic testing and prescriptive instruction.

New programs will be implemented throughout the district to expand enrichment and individualized instruction to 13 elementary schools, extend a new social studies program from grades one through three into grades five and six, use interdisciplinary team teaching at Marshall Junior High School and introduce a demonstration reading program at Fremont Junior High School.

With career education the goal two new programs have been introduced in the high schools and career guidance centers will be set up at the schools.

SOL, the Sharing Our Lives program, began during the summer as an exploration into careers. Working with the Kiwanis Club of Pomona students received school credit while working at a career station provided by Kiwanis Club members.

Students reported to a career station each day for six weeks for a two-hour exposure to the world of employment. Stations were rotated every two weeks.

VALUE, the Voluntary Action Learning Understanding Experience program, will begin this fall and will allow students to volunteer their services to worthwhile non-profit agencies or institutions for school credits. Students will earn one unit of credit for every 18 hours of verified service with a qualified agency or institution.

In the course students will gain insight into the area of voluntary action to appreciate the need for social action and the effort being made in this area.

At Garey High School a Career Development program will allow students to spend a day in a career situation to gain insight into career selection.

Registration dates for all Pomona schools will be Tuesday through Thursday from 9 a.m. to noon and again from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.

Enrollment for the district has been estimated at 18,241 on the first day of school with a projected maximum enrollment during the year of 19,935.

Five new administrators have been named to district school positions. They are Wesley D. Rood, principal of Armstrong Elementary School; Leonard Duff, principal, Palomares Junior High School; E. David Barker, assistant principal of Palomares Junior High School; Ronald Bennett, assistant principal of Madison Elementary School; and Thomas C. McGuire, internal evaluator, compensatory education.

U.S. alone in honoring labor

Although not as singularly American a holiday as Thanksgiving, Labor Day has several distinctly American touches which significantly distinguish it from similar occasions the world around.

We, for example, have chosen September for this annual salute to the working man.

Elsewhere, at least in those societies permitting such manifestations, the preferred date is May 1 and the accent, if not always aggressively Marxist, is strongly on class — on social division, not unity. Internationally, May Day is the proletariat's red-letter day, a time for toiling masses to demonstrate solidarity in an economic contest with more favored classes. Us against them.

Here, the emphasis is also on mass, but of a different definition. This is a day for the nation en masse — assembly line worker, manager, those in the professions. The working man in the United States is virtually everyman, the entire adult population conceived as laboring together to produce and sharing in the benefits of the national plenty.

It was not always thus. The first Labor Day, observed in New York on Sept. 5, 1882, was a militant demonstration, a demand for rights and recognition.

The battle was prolonged and often bitter, but American labor has long since won recognition. Its rights, underwritten by a mass of social legislation unmatched in the world, are now integral to the structure of our society.

We still have our clashes of economic interest, bargaining breakdowns and strikes. But the dialogue, sharp though it may be at times, in the context of the American experience has taken on a singularly American character.

As democratic capitalism has developed in this country, the sense of class, never so strong here as in the various old countries from which we sprang, has diminished. Laboring commoners can and do speak to economic kings, and in terms of living standards it is not always easy to tell them apart.

There has been a parallel development in the significance of Labor Day. Not class but mass solidarity is the message now. It is an occasion not for demonstrations and militant oratory, but a day for each American — blue collar and white collar — to observe and enjoy in his own way, and through private observance to join in a public affirmation of the American achievement.

GOP wide open for youth in '76

One experienced Republican is arguing that another factor — a perhaps overdue "generational switch" — could be added onto Watergate to push the GOP toward new faces in its 1976 presidential quest.

It happened for the Democrats in 1960 with the nomination of the late John F. Kennedy. His assassination produced the accidental flashback to Lyndon Johnson and then Hubert Humphrey.

But the Democratic party got back on the young side with Sen. George McGovern, and probably will stay there the next time or two.

Says this Republican source:

"If we don't go for somebody younger it may look as if we're just doing reruns."

Take this kind of talk seriously, and you're eliminating a fair batch of prospects, including Vice President Agnew and Govs. Reagan and Rockefeller.

Rocky is the most openly ambitous of the lot, and totally clean of Watergate. But if age (68 in 1976) doesn't do him in, then the fact he's been suited up or running much of the time since 1960 may do it.

Reagan has tried only once, belatedly in 1968, but he's been a national political figure for nine years and today strikes some observers as a little grumpy for an old movie smoothie who used to dazzle Republican audiences with his witty sallies.

Of course he too is untouched by Watergate, but he's made a generalized defense of the Nixon administration which could hurt if a flock of new convictions for perjury and obstructing justice come floating along.

Already well discussed is Agnew's handicap in just having been out on the track with Mr. Nixon. He's the teammate, ignorant though he may have been of Watergate. And he's been firing from the Nixon trenches for nearly half a decade.

That about wipes the slate clean of oldies. John Connally was out before he was in.

We nevertheless have to agree with critics who say polls showing Sens. Charles Percy and Howard Baker edging Ted Kennedy right now don't mean a thing.

Baker is riding a crest of attention from the Ervin Watergate hearings.

Percy is about as popular with influential Republicans as a defeated candidate for sheriff. And he is largely unknown. In a meaningless early poll he would have one advantage. His name is not Agnew; Reagan or Rockefeller. He sounds different and he does happen to be young.

SOMEBODY has to win the nomination in 1976, and it may well be one or the other of these younger two — or someone similarly fresh. All we know today is that evidently the voters think the party's veteran rodeo riders look somewhat too scarred and leathery of countenance for them.

Declaration of nonindependence

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has subtly informed the regulators he picks to protect consumers that he is far more concerned about their loyalty to him than he is about their freedom of judgment.

So outraged was one honest appointee that, even though he was handpicked by the White House, he went to his Democratic senator to complain he had been leaned on.

Agencies like the Federal Power Commission, the Federal Trade Commission, the Federal Communications Commission and the Interatate Commerce Commission are among the least romantic sounding offices in town.

But to the consumer, they mean safe-or-unsafe air flights, fair-or-foul ads, good-or-bad TV, higher-or-lower utility rates and clean-or-dirty food. Even though their members are presidential appointees, they are supposed to act independently of the White House. Several months ago, concerned over too much Democratic-type thinking by his regulators and administrators, Nixon had his then chief of staff, H. R. Haldeman, send a private memo to all new appointees.

Cromley column

A copy of the terse memo has reached us. Attached was a column by pro-Nixon writer Ray Cromley, which Haldeman says "The President has read and feels it's important that you have a copy."

The column so endorsed by the President says, "A relatively small group of willful men scattered in key positions through the government have for almost four years actively sabotaged the programs sponsored by their President." It goes on to say that "the President now aims at weeding out" these dissenters.

Haldeman, still quoting the President's views, said Nixon wanted the regulators and other appointees to read the column "so that you will thoroughly understand the basis for (Nixon's) concerns regarding the necessity of avoiding having his policies sabotaged by holdovers in the bureaucracy."

Then, like a grammar school teacher admonishing an eraser-throwing child, Haldeman said, "It is, of course, your responsibility to see that this doesn't happen."

One of the many appointees to get this "loyalty package" was Robert Morris, a San Francisco attorney picked to fill a slot at the Federal Power Commission, now dealing with the energy crisis.

Though Morris was later to be turned down by the Senate for his pro-industry background, he was so incensed by the Nixon-Haldeman lecture that he wrote to his senator, John Tunney.

"I leave it to your calmer head," Morris wrote Tunney, "to determine whether the essential message — especially the strong fatherly advice of the final sentence of the memorandum — is not: 'Brother, you may think you're being appointed to an independent agency, but don't think for a minute that you're independent.' "

FOOTNOTE: Robert Morris was vacationing in the California mountains when we tried to reach him. H. R. Haldeman, through his attorney John J. Wilson, told our associate Joseph Spear that the memo was "authentic and routinely sent to every nominee at the direction of the President."

Lawyers limping through Watergate

The law profession is going to come limping through Watergate with at least one big black eye. Most all of these lawbreakers are lawyers. Crafty lawyers, allowing themselves unprecedented latitude in recent years through legal loopholing, set themselves up for this.

It has become axiomatic in cities that you don't hire a lawyer. Well, that could go on just so far in behalf of paying clients before devious barristers were going to outsmart themselves.

That's what they did if it's established that White House lawyers construed their self-interest to supersede the law itself. Yet even as the Watergate probe progresses, the lawyers are hiring lawyers to use this soap-opera scenario to their advantage.

William Hundley is lawyer John Mitchell's lawyer. He will tell you quite frankly that he intends to get his client off by protesting that a "fair trial is now impossible," his client having been forced to make a public disclosure of his defense.

Mitchell's presumed aside, during the second day of his testimony, was no idle remark. He said, "It's quite a trial they're conducting here, isn't it?"

That statement set the stage for lawyer Mitchell's lawyer eventually to claim that a "second trial" would constitute "double jeopardy."

Members of the committee, enjoying the limelight, rationalize that ventilation of the whole truth is more important than sending a few people to prison.

That reaction construes lawyers to be judges! Despite the numbers of practicing lawyers now implicated in this thing, formal complaints have been lodged only against John Ehrlichman and Egil (Bud) Krogh and only by the state of Washington Bar Assn.

Unless public respect for the legal profession per se is to be sacrificed, the ABA had better mobilize its ethical majority to recognize and remedy a malignancy which has metastasized almost everywhere.

My mail since months before Watergate has included an increasing number of protestations from people distressed by excesses and abuses and whitewashed blackmail by greedy lawyers.

Complaints range from the milking of estates to old-fashioned ambulance chasing, from contrived settlements under duress to actual extralegal activities.

The American Bar Assn. has the authority to investigate and the prerogative to recommend disbarment of the errant, yet such discipline has been so rare that few fear it.

If the ABA procrastinates long in the re-enforcement of its own code, I'll tell you what history says will happen next: Public wrath will provoke the government to remove the administration of justice from the world of commerce. That means make the judicial system a quasi-legislative function. And that means "take the money out of it."

LETTERS FROM P-B READERS

Strategy for regaining title

Our recent loss of the Little League World Series title to the Orientals left me in utter shock and disbelief. How dare these "inscrutable" or is it unhittable frauds from the Orient humiliate us with their perfect games, no hitters, and numerous home runs? How can this disaster fall upon us? Did we not invent the game? We have been dishonored! We must save face!

I, therefore, make the following suggestions not only to regain that all important and sacred world title, but to keep it permanently.

First, we must require that these Orientals arrive here from their countries the day of the game, or the day before at the earliest. Since the body requires a few days to adjust to the time change, this would be quite an advantage to our boys.

Second, once they are here we must feed them only foreign food-foreign to them that is. This will not only weaken their bodies but also break their spirits.

Third, let us stick them in to a noisy hotel where they will be denied of decent rest and sleep.

Fourth, we must disallow rooters and supporters coming from their countries. The booing that we did this year must be intensified and organized better.

Fifth, we can require that Oriental players speak only English while they are our guests. Hopefully, this will prevent any hocus pocus from taking place in the ballfield.

Now, if the above have little or no effect, then, I suggest the following drastic measures.

First, since we are very fortunate to have a President who is an avid sports fan we must urge him to create a new Cabinet post — The Department of Sports with unlimited funds. Of course, these funds must come from private and corporate sources.

Second, we can threaten to cut off foreign aid to any country that has the audacity to take the title away from our poor and helpless boys.

Third, we simply must have the CIA investigate the possibility of the Russians financing the Orientals into humiliating us in front of the whole world. This could be a Communist conspiracy to take over the Sports World! After all, did they not just claim that they invented Doubleday's game?

Lastly, if none of the above works, then we have no alternative but to wipe them out of the face of the earth. Too drastic? Would you rather wait until they dominate us, too, in basketball and football? — Gene Cabalo, Chino

Gossip for today

We read about it in our books and magazines and newspapers. We listen to it on our radios; watch it on our TV sets and movie screens; hear it bandied about in almost every conversation — Without a doubt sex has become the number one obsession with most Americans.

If the subject isn't sex appeal it's permissive sex, sexuality, sex deviation, sex education, or even sex discrimination. So it's small wonder that even very little children often become curious and a bit confused when they try to piece together some of the scraps of information they have picked up on this all engrossing subject. — Like the little ten year old who asked:

"Mama, is a sexagenarian a dirty old man?"

INSIDE REPORT

Senate will insist on bombing details

By Rowland Evans and Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — Although eventual Senate confirmation of Dr. Henry A. Kissinger as Secretary of State is not in doubt, President Nixon's ace diplomatic operative is going to be pressed hard on the secret U.S. bombing of Cambodia in 1969 when the Senate Foreign Relations Committee starts its hearings Sept. 7.

The fact that President Nixon, in his Aug. 20 speech at New Orleans, took full responsibility for the Cambodian bombing decision has not in the slightest diminished the senatorial appetite for a full-scale expose of how the decision was made and whether Kissinger himself will be able to justify it.

One reason: even Senators completely committed to confirming Kissinger are troubled by his future dual role as Secretary of State and also as the President's White House foreign policy adviser, in charge of the National Security Council staff.

Their question: will Kissinger give them the full background of the March 1969 decision to bomb Cambodia or will he claim executive privilege on grounds of his confidential relationship with the President? If the latter, Kissinger will risk raising senatorial hackles at a time when congressional suspicion of presidential power and secrecy has reached its high point of at least the last 50 years.

Issue has special spice

Moreover, what gives the Cambodian issue special spice is the fact that high officials now in the Defense Department, most particularly Deputy Secretary William P. Clements, left the impression with the Senate Armed Services Committee and the nation on Aug. 9 that the orders to falsify bombing reports in order to maintain total security and emanated from the Pentagon.

Clements, in fact, actually produced a now widely published document authorizing 14 B-52 strikes into Cambodian border areas adjacent to South Vietnam on the nights of Nov. 24-25 and Nov. 29-30, 1969. The document, which Clements indicated was the only one he could find in Pentagon files on the Cambodian bombing, bore the signature of Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, then chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and the initials "MRL" for Melvin R. Laird, the then Secretary of Defense. It was marked "top secret — eyes only" and dated Nov. 20.

So astonished was Democratic Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, acting chairman of the committee, when Clements produced this document that he telephoned Laird in Chicago (where he was addressing the National Legislative Conference) and warned him: Mel, they're trying to do you in up here.

As a former Air Force Secretary, Symington knew neither Gen. Wheeler nor Laird had authority to falsify bombing reports. Only the President himself could order an official cover-up of bombing operations against a neutral nation, together with the falsification of reports essential to make the cover-up work.

At the White House itself, the disclosure by Clements was received with amazement and chagrin. Clements's decision to finger Laird as chief villain in the hunt for Cambodian scapegoats was not appreciated, even though some cynics at first thought that Clements must have had White House authorization before producing the "top secret — eyes only" memorandum.

Clements operated on his own

In fact, he had none at all. Clements, an aggressive Texan who had hoped to be named Deputy Defense Secretary in 1969 (Laird chose David Packard instead), was operating on his own and apparently without the support of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Thus, the key document justifying the secret bombing policy was written not on Nov. 20, 1969, the date of Clements's memorandum, but the previous March 16 — just before the secret bombing started.

It spelled out the entire "press guidance" secrecy policy for the military to follow. One copy of this key document, obviously top secret and with limited distribution, is in the Joint Chiefs' files. However, Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, present chairman of the Joint Chiefs who was testifying with Clements Aug. 9, the day Clements disclosed the Wheeler-Laird memorandum, did not give Clements the Joint Chiefs' own record.

The real push for the Cambodian secrecy policy in 1969 came not from Laird and Wheeler but from the diplomats — the State Department and Kissinger — who knew that disclosure would gravely compromise the then Cambodian government of Prince Sihanouk.

The Senate will insist on all the intimate details from Kissinger. If he refuses them, his transition to the No. 1 cabinet post will have some rocky spots.

Cryin' over the crayons

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

Hire education is cerny a wonderful thing. One o' them college professors up to Fresno State has discovered that if you put eight kids in a room with only three crayons, you're going to have a fight. You coulda fooled me.

Kids don't fight, of course, in a dissertation or a scholarly publication. They exhibit aggression responses. A bloody nose is the result in either case.

As Dr. Heinrik von Morgan, the noted Viennese psychologist, said, "In America, when a child talks back to his parent, the father gives him one across the mouth. Ziss is wrong. First you must reason with the child, explaining the social and moral obligations within the family hierarchy — THEN you give him one across the mouth!"

Dr. Samuel Franklin, professor of psychology at Fresno State, recently decided to study why children fight — then relate the responses to violence in big cities and the growing demand for law and order. Pesonally I don't see a lot of guys being mugged in dark streets for their colored crayons, but that's the way the academic mind works.

Franklin called in for help on his project an animal behaviorist, Paul Leyhausen, and I feel that was pretty smart. If you're going to herd a lot of tough little moppets into a room with a shortage of crayons, I can't think of anyone I'd rather have on hand than an animal behaviorist. Unless it was an animal trainer.

Franklin gathered his charges in a room and told them to draw pictures — but he didn't leave enough crayons to go around. Then he presumably fled to an adjoining room where he could watch (through shatter-proof glass) the outcome of his experiment. I din't think he added many cubits to human knowledge when he observed and reported that the little chubs were at each others' throats within minutes. Any mother-of-four could have told him that without looking up from the dirty diapers.

Scholars don't say "The kids bashed each other," of course. Franklin discovered things like absolute dominance hierarchy, non-operative social behaviorisms, and 1.6 aggressive responses per child in four-person groups. Much tonier, you'll agree. agee.

Franklin used children, he said, because they are openly aggressive and less inhibited than adults would be in the same situation. You don't find gunmen frisking you for bubblegum cards or Hell's Angels going to the over ice cream sticks.

Still, social behaviorisms aside, a Fresno State professor would be in just as much danger from a roomful of crayonless small fry as from a carful of ex-cons.

The doctor comments

Liquor is sometimes used as tranquilizer

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — This is not an easy letter to write, but I hope to read your answer in our paper. It regards my husband, who is 60 years old. I feel guilty as I recommended my doctor to him, as his own doctor had left his area.

The doctor said his health was good, but because of his job and being a tense person, he recommended my husband stay with his bourbon at the end of the day as a tranquilizer instead of taking pills. This made me wonder, as my doctor always prescribes pills for women.

Instead of one strong drink daily, my husband takes two with only ice on an empty stomach, since he doesn't eat much lunch. Now he finds that whenever he does anything requiring any exercise he tires easily and is breathless. It's so ironic, because if the doctor had told him to cut out all alcohol he probably would have done so. I'm not a teetotaler, but I'm concerned about the effects of all this alcohol on his health.

Dear Reader — Alcohol is not a bad tranquilizer, but the danger in prescribing it to a person is just exactly what you have cited. A person can start using it too often and in too large a quantity. This in turn can lead to other problems which may be more serious than the simple nervousness which might have stimulated prescribing a tranquilizer to begin with.

Basically the problem of using alcohol and tranquilizers either one for nervousness is that it doesn't solve the underlying problem. One needs to get at the reasons for the nervousness and see if these can be minimized.

From your letter I judge that your husband is the kind of person who follows good directions readily. That is a plus in his favor.

Part of the problem here is that if you drink alcohol on an empty stomach it's very rapidly absorbed into the bloodstream, and you can have a high blood level rather quickly, causing inebriation, or at last the first stages of intoxication. As a general rule of thumb: one jigger of whiskey drunk slowly over a period of one hour is sufficient, preferably diluted so that it won't be absorbed too rapidly in the bloodstream, if you don't want to get too much of an effect from it.

There is about one-half ounce of alcohol in a jigger of most whiskey. It will take more than one hour for the body to metabolize that much alcohol. If one has several drinks they should be spread apart even further if he wants to eliminate problems from the alcohol.

I really don't think anyone should develop a regular alcohol habit, and I'm even opposed to the regular one-drink-a-day routine, if it becomes a "routine."

Rather than a tranquilizer or alcohol, your husband should start an exercise program. From your description of his present condition, this will have to be done gradually. To start with, I'd recommend he begin an evening walk. He can gradually increase these until they help build up his condition.

It's amazing how relaxing exercise can be for a person after a day that's filled with nervous tension. When one has developed his physical fitness level and is able to engage in some enjoyable physical activity, such as tennis, golf, swimming, or something of that nature, then this is one of the best and most healthy tranquilizers that a person can get.

Dallenbach makes it three straight

By KEVIN CLOE
P-B Staff Writer

ONTARIO — Excuse the old expression, but "when you're hot, you're hot."

That has been the story of Wally Dallenbach the past three weeks, and that was the story again Sunday at Ontario Motor Speedway.

Dallenbach, who had come to Ontario two weeks ago after claiming his first championship victory in 95 starts at the Tony Bettenhausen 200 in Milwaukee a week earlier, won one of the two heats of the Twin 100 qualifying races last Sunday to make it two wins in a row.

Then he capped a fantastic month of racing on the United States Auto Club championship circuit by steering his STP Oil Filter Eagle-Offy to victory in the fourth California 500 Sunday at OMS.

Wally collected his third straight victory by five seconds over Viceroy "Super Team" driver Mario Andretti, who finished second. The only other driver who finished on the same lap as the leader was Mike Mosley, who piloted his Lodestar Eagle to a third-place finish.

In averaging 157.664 miles an hour on the 2.5-mile oval at OMS, Dallenbach's victory pushed him into third place in the USAC Driving standings behind Roger McCluskey and Mosley. He is the first man since Al Unser in 1970 to win three consecutive championship races.

In a race which saw the drivers exchange the lead like a hot potato, Dallenbach didn't find himself in the lead for the final time until lap 189 when he passed Al Unser in turn two. Al had been leading the race when he pitted for fuel, but came out of the pits slowly and Dallenbach passed him.

The two cars dueled for the next three laps, but Dallenbach gained a little breathing room when Unser broke a gear box with only eight laps to go.

That put Andretti in second place, but Mario didn't think he had a chance to catch Dallenbach in the short period of time.

While most of the other drivers had to use anywhere from 10 to 12 pit stops during the race, Wally somehow managed to make only nine—and that seemed to make the big difference.

After pitting on lap 179, he was able to go the rest of th distance while the other front runners were scheduled to go for one more stop each.

The plan worked and Dallenbach found himself in front.

The one guy who was truly frustrated was Bobby Unser.

Not only did he lead the race for 62 laps—high for the day—but he also had an excellent chance at winning the race. Of course, that was until his Olsonite Eagle broke its wing.

On lap 135 while leading the race, Bobby lost a side panel from the rear wing of his Eagle and signalled to the USAC officials. The yellow flag came out and Unser pulled into the pits for fuel and repair. All the crew could do was tape up the holes left by the missing panel and send him back onto the track.

Bobby complained of bad turbulence coming from the loss of the panel, so Gurney ordered him back into the pits—this time under the green light—and the crew replaced the broken wing.

But the time, he got back out, Unser had used up a little more than four minutes and lost five laps on the leaders.

That's when Dallenbach took over for the fifth time. He led the race eight different times for a total of 49 laps.

The lead changed hands a total of 31 times, with 13 cars involved in the swapping.

As has happened in the past runnings of Cal 500, some of the front runners fell out of the race early.

Pole sitter Peter Revson ran into engine trouble and had to call it a day on lap 43 of the 200-lap race.

Jerry Grant, who was last year's pole sitter and in the middle of the first row this year, only lasted two laps when he hit the wall coming out of turn two after apparently sliding in some oil from Gordon Johncock's car.

Just prior to that accident, Johncock had blown his engine and dropped the oil on the track.

McCluskey, who leads the USAC driving championship this year and appears to have it wrapped up, was still running when the checkered flag was dropped and took a fourth-place finish—one lap behind Dallenbach.

Placing fifth was John Martin in the Unsponsored Special McLaren-Offy, while Sam Posey took sixth in his Norris Industries Eagle and Bobby Unser grabbed seventh.

Eighth place went to Bentley Warren in the Air Force Eagle-Offy, and ninth place was claimed by Al Unser.

A. J. Foyt, who experienced engine trouble late in the race, slowed down and limped around the OMS oval the last few laps in order to finish tenth.

Sunday was also a day of firsts at Ontario.

On four different occasions, a driver who had never led a USAC championship race paced the field.

John Mahler, Dick Simon, Bentley Warren and Lee Kunzman each led one lap sometime during the race.

Five different accidents brought out yellow lights during the race, with the first coming on the second lap involving Grant.

The second came on lap 12 when Johnny Rutherford caught the wall coming out of turn four.

He was running third at the time, but damage to the right hand steering arm on the car put him out of the race.

The third incident was the most incredible—involving Lloyd Ruby in a single car crash.

Coming around the fourth turn on the 26th lap, Ruby smacked the wall and sheared off both right side tires before finally coming to a rest at the start-finish line. The report was that he hit the wall several times, but he walked away uninjured.

On lap 34, Mahler and Billy Vukovich tangled in turn two, but Vuky was able to save his car and bring it around into the pits for fuel and any repairs needed.

But Mahler spun onto the dirt infield and back out onto the track before hitting the wall.

Six laps later, Vukovich retired with bad brakes and a burned up turbocharger.

On the 92nd lap of the race, Bentley Warren and Mel Kenyon spun in the short stretch between turns one and two — dragging George Snider with them. Warren and Snider were able to restart and pull away, but Kenyon's car had hit the wall—putting him out of the race.

He was taken to the track hospital for a check-up, but only appeared to be shaken up.

One other incident caused a little panic just after Rutherford's crash when John Cannon car caught on fire at the end of pit row while he was leaving the pits.

A total of 10 yellow flags were flashed during the course of the race, taking up 38 laps.

Italian lover Granatelli kisses the winner

New rules prevent Cal 500 holocaust

By CURT WEBSTER
P-B Staff Writer

ONTARIO — When the drivers, sponsors, and pit crew of the STP Racing Team look back on the 1973 USAC Championship season there will be two distinct memories.

One will be a daydream, the other a nightmare.

Wally Dallenbach's victory in Sunday's California 500 gave Andy Granatelli's dark red STP Eagles their second 500-mile triumph. It extended Dallenbach's personal winning streak to three, bringing STP's total to five wins in '73.

But in the midst of unprecedented racing success, there has also been almost unbearable tragedy.

Two members of the STP team that started the season weren't at Ontario Sunday.

Swede Savage, who drove the Number 40 Eagle earlier in the year, died nearly two months ago as a result of injuries he received in a crash at Indianapolis.

Armando Teran, a young member of the pit crew, was killed by an emergency truck at Indy, both attempting to aid Savage after the crash.

Granatelli, the STP sponsor, reflected on the bittersweet year while relaxing in the Ontario press box after Sunday's race.

"It's been the greatest winning season in racing history" he said. "We've had two big USAC victories, and two NASCAR victories."

(STP stock cars picked up 500 mile wins at Daytona and Pocono earlier in the season.)

"But when you talk about the tragedy," Granatelli winced, "I'd rather have not won a race."

Granatelli campaigned for reforms in the wake of the Indy carnage, and, according to Granatelli, those reforms averted possible tragedy on the Ontario oval Sunday.

On Lap 26, Lloyd Ruby's Commander Motor Homes Special Eagle hit the wall with its right side a number of times coming out of turn four.

The right side of the car was demolished, but neither Ruby nor drivers near the accident was injured.

In Granatelli's estimation, the fact that no fuel is now allowed on the right side of Championship cars kept the accident to the status of an "incident."

"If Ruby had been carrying fuel in that right side," Granatelli asserted, "there would have been a fire with four or five other cars involved and maybe some spectators injured."

In other words, under the old rules which allowed fuel to be carried on both sides of a car, Ruby would have touched off a holocaust — a tragedy that would have rivaled the Indianapolis spectacle.

In terms of monetary gain, the season has been quite profitable for STP. Gordon Johncock is the leading money winner on the USAC circuit with $244,658. Dallenbach's share of the $300,000 Cal 500 purse should be substantial.

The victory takes some of the taint off Johncock's Indy 500 claim. Johncock himself has expressed a disappointment that rain prevented him from claiming a "clean" victory, though none have disputed his title.

Johncock's bid to make it two 500-milers in one season was dashed on the second lap Sunday when his engine threw a rod and coasted to a halt.

Dallenbach didn't join the STP crew until after Indy. His record was undistinguished until a sixth place finish in the Michigan 200. On August 12, he grabbed first place in the Milwaukee 200, and then proceeded to win the first of the Twin-100 qualifying races last week.

Johncock had one other good finish, a second in the first of the Trenton 150's. Graham McRae, the third member of the driving crew, failed to qualify for the California 500, and finished 16th at Indy.

Four races remain on the USAC champ schedule, and anything further in the way of victory for STP would be icing on the cake.

When the season starts next year, one hopes that Andy Granatelli can enjoy success untainted by tragedy or second thoughts.

He deserves it.

Dodgers fading fast... and here come the Reds

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— You have to go back to June 17 to find the Los Angeles Dodgers with a smaller lead in the National League West than they have today.

On that date, it was a half game. Today it's just one game over the charging Cincinnati Reds.

The Houston Astros swept a three-game series from the Dodgers this weekend, trouncing them 9-0 on Sunday. Lee May drove in four runs with his 24th and 25th homers Sunday. He also homered in the Friday and Saturday victories.

Tonight the Dodgers open a three-game series against the Giants at Candlestick and San Francisco is a threat in third place only a half dozen games back.

Tommy John, 12-7, of the Dodgers faces Tom Bradley, 12-11, tonight. Al Downing, 9-7, goes against Ron Bryant, 20-9, Tuesday night and Doug Rau, 4-1, takes on Jim Barr, 10-14 in the final game Wednesday night.

Don Sutton, 16-8, the Dodgers' ace right-hander, will miss a turn against the Giants because of a sore shoulder muscle.

Centerfielder Willie Davis has a bad knee but may make it against the Giants. Second baseman Dave Lopes has a bad back.

The Dodgers could get only seven hits Sunday off Houston southpaw Dave Roberts and three of those came in the ninth inning.

With the bases loaded, Steve Yeager hit into a double play and Roberts had his 14th victory against nine losses. Claude Osteen started for the Dodgers and lasted only three innings, taking his seventh loss against 16 victories.

With one out in the first inning, Roger Metzger, Cesar Cedeno and Bob Watson singled for one run and May homered to make it 4-0.

In the third, two singles, a sacrifice fly and Tommy Helms' double made it 6-0. May's homer in th fifth made it 7-0 and the Astros got two more in the eighth on a single by Jim Wynn, a passed ball, a throwing error and Bob Gallagher's double.

After the 9-0 rout, manager Walter Alston said, "That may be the worst we've looked hitting and fielding for a long time. We haven't had too many lopsided ones. We had one in Philadelphia and now this one.

"I thought all along this would go down to the wire," he added. "I don't think it's a situation of blaming pressure for losing. If we can't stand the pressure, we don't deserve to win."

Dallenbach's luck better

By JIM FULTON

ONTARIO — Ontario Motor Speedway plucked another name from obscurity Sunday but Wally Dallenbach insists it took only a change in his luck, not himself, to gain the new prominence.

"I'm no different than I was three years ago," the winner of the fourth California 500 told the OMS crowd from Victory Circle.

Until three weeks ago, Dallenbach never had won a race on the U.S. Auto Club's championship trail in a rather undistinguished racing career that began in 1966. Before Sunday, his highest finish in a 500-mile race had been 15th.

But he made the right move toward reversing this kind of fortune by joining the Pat Patrick racing team and chief mechanic George Bignotti early this summer.

He took over the car Gordon Johncock drove to victory in this year's Indianapolis 500 and on Aug. 12 won his first championship race, a 200-miler at Milwaukee.

He made it two straight with a first place in one of the twin 100-mile races at OMS Aug. 26, then completed a rare hat trick in Sunday's big event.

Victory Circle at OMS has a way of rewarding the hard luck guys. Dallenbach's predecessors, Jim McElreath, Joe Leonard and Roger McCluskey, all had been short on USAC victories until their days of glory at OMS.

"If someone had told me it was going to happen in my lifetime, I'd never have believed it," Dallenbach chortled.

He had just received Ontario Mayor Howard Snider's tribute that his happy moment "couldn't happen to a nicer guy," as well as a kiss and hug from team sponsor Andy Granatelli.

Later, the 36-year-old driver from East Brunswick, N.J., in the press box interview, credited his association with Bignotti, Patrick and Granatelli for reversing his luck.

"It's been a long dry spell," he said. "But it shows if you stick by this sport, even though you get disgusted at times, it just takes a handful of the right marbles to change things. We had this today."

Two close encounters with accidents almost ruined Dallenbach's day. The first came when Johncock's engine blew on the second lap, spilling oil which caused Jerry Grant to spin into the wall.

"I hit the same oil as Grant," he recalled, "and it shook the car quite badly."

Later in the race he was right behind a two-car accident — he wasn't sure which one — and a tire came rolling across the track.

"I didn't see the tire until the last minute," Dallenbach said.

Bignotti, the mechanic supreme who now has two California 500 victories (he was Leonard's top wrench) along with his six at Indianapolis, allowed that planning for this race was difficult because of the on-board fuel limitations.

"We're glad to win this," he said. "We had doubts about the number of pit stops and yellow flags."

His successful gas mileage calculations included such considerations as counting only three laps for every five under the yellow light, he explained.

Second-place finisher Mario Andretti said he did his best to cut down Dallenbach's four-to-five second lead in the final laps.

"There was no way I could get any more speed," he said. "I tried, believe me I tried. I just could do no better."

Third place driver Mike Mosley had some praise of his own for the winning team.

"They've got everything down pat," said the former La Puente resident. "They know just what they've got to do."

And about the kiss from Granatelli, the rotund STP man suggested that Dallenbach or any other driver would be "glad to kiss me anytime to win a 500."

Responded Dallenbach:
"If that's what it takes, OK."

Jeter turns from goat to Sox hero

CHICAGO (UPI)—In sunday's case, John Jeter's forgetfulness could be excused.

The Chicago White Sox centerfielder forgot his sun glasses in the fourth inning Sunday and it cost his team a run when he lost a pop-up in the sun and it fell for a double. One out later, a single brought in a run for the visiting California Angels.

But Jeter had given the Sox their first run on a solo homer in the opening inning and helped out with a double in the Sox' eight-run seventh inning to boost the Sox to a 13-3 thrashing of the Angels.

The seventh-inning outburst was the biggest Sox rampage of the season.

Chuck Brinkman started the fireworks with a single and Jeter doubled him to third. Dave Sells relieved Clyde Wright and gave Jorge Orta an intentional pass before Jerry Hairston lined a two-run single. Carlos May singled home another run to put the Sox on top 7-2.

That finished Sells and brought on Steve Barber, who walked Pat Kelly to load the bases.

The Angels then brought on Dick Lange and rookie shortstop Bucky Dent greeted him with a two-run single and Tony Muser followed with another single to push across yet another run.

Brinkman, batting for the second time in the inning, singled again to load the bases and send Lange out in favor of Rich Hand.

Jeter then added the coup de grace of the inning, stroking his fourth hit of the game, a tworun single which gave the sox a 12-2 edge.

LEADER OF THE PACK — Mario Andretti (11), who finished second Sunday in the California 500, heads a field of five cars through a turn. Wally Dallenbach won the race.

Top seeds dropping out of U.S. open

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI) —The nine surviving seeds surveyed the carnage at the U.S. Open tennis championships today, and then five of them went to the wars, knowing that at least two more must fall in quarter-final play.

Ken Rosewall, seeded fifth, took on 16th seed Cliff Richey, Jimmy Connors, ninth, faced seventh seed Tom Okker and 10th seeded John Newcombe met Andrew Pattison, the Rhodesian who had put out co-seed No. 1. Ilie Nastase last week.

The day's fireworks began in the stadium with 19-year-old Vijay Amritriaj of India certain to drew a throng of fans following his memorable five-set victory over Rod Laver. Vijay will play Allan Stone of Australia, who had put out 14th seed Adriano Panatta of Italy.

Sunday, as Saturday had been Amritaj's day, belonged to 17-year-old Bjorn Borg, the darling of the British teenyboppers at Wimbledon, who thus far has not drawn a giggling gaggle of American teenagers, despite a stadium crowd of 13,687 which included many single girls.

Borg caught third seeded Arthur Ashe off his game, and posted a 6-7, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4 upset. Not that the Swedish youngster played badly, but Arthur ruefully admitted, "I just could not serve, while my volley was terrible."

Borg readily agreed with Ashe's comment, and then, when asked if he liked playing here rather than Wimbledon, grinned and said, "I do because the girls leave me alone. They don't know who I am."

While Ashe was falling, Stan Smith tottered against the cannon-like play of Roscoe Tanner. The Lookout Mountain, Tenn., 21-year-old fought Smith point by bitter point in exhausting heat and humidity over the first two sets, winning the first tie break 5-2, dropping the second 5-3 when he elected to allow a Smith shot to sail over his head, confident that it was long, although he could have cut it off into an open court.

The ball, caught in the heavy humidity and light-breeze, fell like a shot duck, and kicked chalk to Tanner's dismay, and Smith's delight.

"It was the biggest point," Smith said afterwards. "I thought it was going out." Had it done that, Smith would have been faced with 4-4 score in the-tie break, facing Tanner's booming serve, and the possibility of being two sets down.

Smith was saved, and was relentless in his pursuit of the next two sets, closing out with a 6-7, 7-6, 6-4, 6-3 win.

The girls were in action—of a sort—Sunday.

Margaret Court, seeded second, found herself in a spot of trouble in the second set. Mrs. Court grandly swept the difficulty aside to triumph 6-1, 6-4.

Billy Martin fired as Tiger skipper

DETROIT (UPI) —Billy Martin, master manipulator of baseball men, is looking for a new job today because he isn't as good at managing himself.

The Detroit manager was fired Sunday with a $65,000 year to go on his contract. General Manager Jim Campbell said Martin's three-day suspension for ordering his pitchers to throw illegal spitballs was "a contributing factor but not the sole reason."

"It was an accumulation of things," Campbell said. "There comes a point where what's right is right and what's wrong is wrong."

One of those "wrong" things was the suspension American League President Joe Cronin slapped on Martin, 45, after reading the Detroit manager had ordered Joe Coleman and Fred Scherman to throw spitballs against Cleveland while alleged greaseball artist Gaylord Perry was pitching.

The New York Mets reportedly are interested in Martin for next season, a move which would return the fiery manager to the city where he was so popular as a player with the Yankees.

The clashes between the volatile Martin and baseball's hierarchy are nothing new. He was fired as manager of the Minnesota Twins in 1969 after leading them to a divisional title following run-ins with club officials Harold Fox and George Brophy. Owner Calvin Griffith said that change was for the good of the organization, too.

Jurgensen looks set for comeback season

By United Press International

The Washington Redskins had some bad news for the National Football League Sunday night— Sonny Jurgensen is back.

Jurgensen, who has missed most of the last two seasons with a separated shoulder and an Achilles tendon injury, relieved Bill Kilmer in the second half Sunday night with the Redskins trailing New England 14-7. Jurgensen, a 39-year-old veteran of 17 NFL seasons, then completed 12-of-13 passes for 179 yards and two touchdowns. He also engineered two other touchdown drives as Washington ripped the Patriots 35-17.

Jurgensen threw a four-yard TD pass to rookie Mike Hancock to tie the score and an 11-yard scoring pass to Alvin Reed. Moses Denson ran two yards and Duane Thomas eight for the other Redskin scores in the second half after Herb Mul-Key's one-yard plunge accounted for the lone Washington TD in the first half.

"Sonny was throwing exceptionally well," said Washington Coach George Allen. "He had good protection and Roy Jefferson and Charley Taylor were making good catches."

Chuck Fairbanks, the New England coach, wasn't too pleased with Jurgensen.

"We were doing pretty well until that old man took us apart," said Fairbanks.

Sports news in brief

BOBBY ALLISON goes for an unprecendented third consecutive victory in today's 24th annual running of the Southern 500 car race.

THE L. A. RAMS are in their regular season training camp at Blair Field in Long Beach today with a Labor Day practice scheduled. Seven players will be cut to get down to the NFL limit of 44.

DETROIT TIGER players expressed shock Sunday at the firing of their manager, Billy Martin.

"I never thought it would happen, knowing he had one year remaining on his contract," veteran Al Kaline said Sunday.

"He had some problems with a couple of players," Kalin said. "But the last couple of weeks were very hectic."

BILL DALY, manager of Puerto Rican challenger Joe "King" Roman, who was knocked out at two minutes of the first round Saturday by world heavyweight champion George Foreman, today accused Foreman of committing two fouls and said he would protest today to the Japan Boxing Commission.

Vera Miles: an exception to rule

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Among the most invisible souls on earth are the adult offspring of glamor girls still in the acting dodge.

Like bit players in a mob scene they generally are kept in the background.

One happy exception is Kelley Miles, the leggy and beautiful daughter of Vera Miles, who is co-starring with her mother this season in an episode of television's "Owen Marshall."

Mother and daughter first appeared together last summer in Jacksonville, Fla. in "40 Carats."

The ladies had lunch together at Universal Studios the other day after completing a scene for the television drama. Both were in high spirits. They behaved and looked more like sisters than parent and child.

"I love working with Kelley," Vera said. "Young people turn away from parental suggestions most of the time, but Kelley has learned not to be defensive about that. I make a few suggestions about acting and she listens."

"I learned about acting all my life," Kelley said, lighting a cigarette. "Mother dragged us (two brothers and a sister) on sets all over Hollywood and on locations everywhere.

"I rebelled against show business for years. I wanted to be a painter. Then I found out artists starve."

"So do a lot of actors," Vera said affectionately.

Mother and daughter only faintly resemble one another. Kelley, 20, is taller than her mother, her hair is longer and darker.

"I'll be 43 years old this month," Vera said in a burst of candor which left her press agent blinking in surprise. "I don't believe in hiding my kids like some people in this business do. But then I make my own rules. Always have."

Vera gives the impression of an artistocratic finishing school background. She is a farm girl from Kansas who came to Hollywood after being third runner-up in the Miss America beauty pageant.

"Everyone thinks mother is the fragile type," Kelley said. "She's usually out digging in the garden in blue jeans and sandals."

"I'm one of the best female wallpaper hangers in the country," her mother added.

Kelley moved away from the family home in Calabasas, Calif., last year to live in an apartment but she visits her mother and siblings almost every weekend.

"I wish she'd have a baby," said Vera, fully aware such an eventuality would make her a grandmother. "It would be better than having her drag that darned Irish setter to the house for visits. I'd rather change diapers."

Vera said she neither encouraged nor dissuaded Kelley from becoming an actress. "I've enjoyed my career," she said. "I still do. More good things have happened to me than bad.

"I hope Kelley enjoys show business as much as I have. It's a matter of keeping your balance. It's not easy, but a woman can be successful as an actress and raise a family, too.

"And who'd have thought a girl from Kansas would stick around in movies and television as long as I have?"

Senator serves a day in jail

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Sen. Paul Fannin, R-Ariz., served his mandatory one-day jail sentence for drunk driving Friday.

Maricopa County Sheriff's deputies confirmed that Fannin, who pleaded guilty to a reinstated charge after the original had been dropped in City Court, entered the jail at 9:45 p.m. Thursday. His time was up at 9:45 p.m. Friday.

Sheriff's deputies said the senator was in a special cell reserved for persons who must serve the one-day jail terms for drunk driving. They are not mixed with other prisoners the officers said.

He made Michael Landon a rich man

No tears for 'Little Joe Cartwright'

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) Michael Landon watched Little Joe Cartwright die without shedding a tear when the "Bonanza" series expired after 14 years on the air.

Pragmatist Landon was closer to the show than anyone else. He directed 24 episodes of the long-running horse opera and wrote 30 of the scripts. Thirty of the best of them.

Since NBC uncoupled the series last December, Landon hasn't worked in a motion picture or a dramatic television show. Costar Lorne Greene already is at work in a new series playing a detective in "Griff."

"I haven't done any serious acting because there hasn't been anything offered me that I wanted to do," said Landon.

In addition to the fortune he compiled on "Bonanza," Landon is involved in several profitable business enterprises. He wouldn't starve if he never worked again. But Landon wants to continue his life style in the high-income brackets and is anxious to return to acting.

In the past six months he has appeared on "The Hollywood Squares," at fairs and rodeos around the country (for eye-popping fees) and he has been busy at the typewriter.

He's sold his first script to a television show other than "Bonanza."

It's a one-hour romance for the new anthology series, "Love Story." Mike was also engaged by producer George Schaefer to direct the episode as the opening segment of the newcomer in October.

"I didn't write the script with this show in mind," Landon said during a noon break. "Schaefer asked me to direct it and I wasn't too sure at first. I was spoiled by the great 'Bonanza' crew and did not relish the thought of working with a brand new crew. But they are terrific.

"I've never written or directed as a calculated reason for earning a living. I wanted to assimilate and use the other elements of show business aside from acting. It kept me enthusiastic."

Landon said he didn't find 14 years of "Bonanza" monotonous. And he does miss the friendships of the show. But he is anxious to get on to other projects.

"Show business isn't the most important thing in my life," he said. "My family is my first consideration. I've been offered 35-40 scripts for television series pilots. Almost all of them have been detective roles, and none of them appealed to me."

Landon still is under contract to NBC for two television movies, both of which will be pilots for new series. Thus far he has eschewed several possibilities.

His connection with "Love Story" is solely as writer and director of the initial episode.

"The country is ready for some good love stories," he said.

"There isn't much opportunity to see them in theaters because they lack the excitment of physical violence. I guess movie producers are embarrassed about caring for people. They shouldn't be.

"Every time we did a 'Bonanza' segment based on an old fashioned love story the audience response was overwhelming."

Landon is a romantic figure himself. He is handsome, physically fit and flashes an engaging grin. It is difficult

"I'm being careful about becoming involved in a new series," he concluded. "I'd like to do another because it means I can get home every night instead of working all over the place on movie locations."

Miss Joanne Santia became the bride of John D. Mangiagli in an afternoon nuptial ceremony at Our Lady of the Assumption Catholic Church, Claremont.

MRS. JOHN D. MANGIAGLI

The double-ring rites united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Santia of Pomona and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Mangiagli of West Covina.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore an a-line gown of silk organza with a re-embroidered alencon lace bodice, long bishop sleeves and a hem of lace. Her Juliet cap of alencon lace held her long mantilla veil trimmed in matching lace.

Miss Rosemary Santia, the bride's sister, served as maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Donna Kincyzk, Michele Steenbock Jolene Mangiagli and Regina Rapisardi. Angela Santia was the flower girl.

John Rapisardi was best man for the groom who chose Joe Mangiagli, Dave Nemeth, Roger Pomposello and Perry Santia to be ushers.

A reception at the San Dimas Community Center followed the wedding ceremony.

After returning from a honeymoon in Acapulco Mr. and Mrs. Mangiagli are making their home in Upland.

Birthdays to be marked at luncheon

Birthdays for July, August and September will be celebrated at the Vicksburg Woman's Relief Corps meeting in the VFW Hall on Wednesday.

A covered dish luncheon will be served at 11:30 a.m.

Mrs. Velda Welbaum will provide the birthday cake, Mrs. Ernest Rinehart will decorate tables and Mrs. Virginia Spoonmore will be the hostess.

The corps will visit Camp Paige in La Verne to take 11 birthday cakes and magazines for the boys there on Thursday.

The local corps will work with the Covina corps to entertain Mrs. Lucille Oliphant, department president, during the month.

Ellis-Pomeroy vows said in local church

Miss Marcia Joyce Pomeroy and Richard Wayne Ellis exchanged nuptial vows in an afternoon wedding ceremony at Trinity United Methodist Church.

The double-ring rites were read by Dr. John Black.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Pomeroy of Pomona was given in marriage by her parents. The bride wore a gown of white cotton brocade with daisy trim. She carried a basket of white and yellow daisies, baby roses and baby's breath.

A sister of the bride, Mrs. Gwynne R. Brooks, was the honor attendant, and another sister, Mrs. Irene Ede, was the bridesmaid. The bride's niece, Stella Ede, was the flower girl.

Scott Isenberg stood as best man for the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Ellis of Pomona. Ushers were Dr. Randall W. Ellis and Timothy McGuire.

A reception at the home of the bride's parents preceded the newly wed couple's honeymoon trip touring the western states.

Denmark dignitary gets highest pay

HAIR SLAVES, GO FREE!
Rid yourself of the Purgatorial agony of dryers, of the medieval shackles of metallic roller heads and the cotton candy teased tortured look. Let me emancipate you with pure scissor styling, that gives you freedom and freshness. Our lamp cuts, blower cuts, wash and wear, are for this era. Good for any age, any hair.
Also, No-Set Permanent Wave. No rollers and no pins. You may never have to set your hair again. The natural potential that every head of hair has its message to reveal to one who can hear it. I am that stylist. A little bit better than the very best!

Nixon criticized, not welcome at labor gathering

By United Press International

AFL-CIO President George Meany, whose 1972 coziness with President Nixon has melted under the rising prices of Phases III and IV, told the chief executive Sunday he would not be welcome at the labor organization's annual convention next month in Miami Beach.

"He is not entitled to an invitation because of his conduct at our last convention when he was very discourteous to us," Meany said.

He also said he would oppose Vice President Spiro T. Agnew if he runs for President in 1976.

Meany spoke on ABC's "Issues and Answers" on the eve of America's 80th Labor Day.

The presidents of the large autoworkers and steelworkers unions joined Meany in an attack on Nixon's economic policies, while Labor Secretary Peter J. Brennan said "great strides" have been made toward improving the economy since last Labor Day.

Brennan said, "There are still problems facing our economy, but we have made great strides in our efforts to restore the economy to good health."

He said a record high 85 million persons have jobs, an increase of nearly 3 million over the past year and the largest gain in almost 18 years. Moreover, he said, unemployment is now at 4.7 per cent, the lowest rate in more than three years.

United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock, who is in Detroit today for contract negotiations with the Chrysler Corp., said:

"The reality of this Labor Day is the lack of responsive answers—answers to the needs and the day-to-day problems of the American people. The 'business of the people' has fallen on hard times while the business of the great corporations prospers as never before."

Woodcock spoke on NBC's "Meet the Press."

He said a strike by 127,500 U.S. and Canadian autoworkers Sept. 15 could be avoided if Chrysler would display "a little ingenuity and imagination" on the key issue of voluntary overtime.

United Steel Workers President I.W. Abel said that even worse than the high cost of living for Americans whose wage increases are limited, is that "there is no end in sight. The Nixon administration has offered no workable program."

In his statement, Abel added that American labor is outraged "over the concentration of arrogance in high places symbolized by the Watergate."

Meany said Agnew's attitude toward "the little people of this country has been rather overbearing and I would be very unhappy if he became President."

The gruff leader of organized labor said "agents of the White House" were responsible for last fall's brouhaha at the AFL-CIO convention when Nixon accused Meany of being disrespectful.

Vessel grounded on a mud bank near N. Orleans

PHOENIX, La. (UPI) —Coast Guard helicopters made more than 200 bombing raids on a burning ship in the Mississippi River today, trying to smother a chemical so dangerous its fumes can eat away human flesh.

"So far we've been able to control the fire on the forward half of the ship and this is where it's really important to us because that is the part that contains eight tons of tetraethyl lead," Coast Guard spokesman Dave Cipra said.

"Very little of the fire is actually out, but one half is under control."

Five tons of fire extinguishing powder were dropped on the ship grounded in a mud bank 50 miles downriver from New Orleans.

The river was closed to all traffic between New Orleans and the Gulf of Mexico and 500 area residents were evacuated.

"The stern section of the ship, which had the first fire on board, we've had no results on that at all," Cipra said. "We've been repeatedly bombarding it with chemicals but have had no success at all.

"This is the section that contains calcium carbide and this is the chemical that releases acetylene gas when it's in contact with water.

"Acetylene gas is an explosive and that's what has been a problem to us the whole time because we can't fight it in a conventional manner."

The fire extiniguishant was dropped in 50-pound pods from a helicopter driven by Capt. Robert Russell, the commanding officer of the Coast Guard Air Station at New Orleans, as he hovered a few feet above the burning ship.

"The pods, we hope, will fall into the hold and once reaching the heat and fire, will melt or burst into the fire and put it out," Cipra said.

The ship, called the Key Largo, was carrying tetraethyl lead to Miami. It was run aground 50 miles south of New Orleans.

"This chemical is definitely tetraethyl lead, a highly toxic, extremely toxic, unbelievably toxic," Cipra said. "The fumes can destroy human tissue."

The fire broke out early in the day but at 2:25 p.m. the crew reported it was under control. At 3 p.m., Capt. Diego Ruiz, the ship's master, gave orders to run it aground and abandon ship.

"I kept on the ship, but the smoke make me feel very bad," Ruiz said. "I started coughing. I got off the ship around 5 p.m.,"

He said he hoped the ship could be saved but he didn't know for sure.

"I could cry," he said. "It is a real disappointment. You can't understand."

Capt. Stanley Huber, a river pilot, was at the wheel of the ship when it caught fire.

Area residents living on the east bank of the river were evacuated and housed at the Pointe-a-la-Hache civic center where they were given cots and fed sandwiches, coffee and cookies.

Storm Delia nears hurricane strength; heads for Louisiana

MIAMI (UPI) —Tropical Storm Delia built toward expected hurricane strength over the Gulf of Mexico today on a course that would take it into the Louisiana coast.

The National Weather Service in New Orleans said that "watches and possibly gale warnings will likely be posted later today for portions of the Northern Gulf coast."

Delia, with highest winds of 60 miles an hour, was located at 6 a.m. EDT near latitude 25.0 north, longitude 89.0 west, or about 340 miles south-southeast of New Orleans. It was moving north-northwest at about 10 m.p.h.

"Conditions remain favorable for Delia to strengthen and it will likely reach hurricane intensity by late today or tonight," the latest advisory warned.

The season's third tropical storm, Christine, also boasting 60 m.p.h. winds, was in the Atlantic about 130 miles east of Guadaloupe this morning.

That storm was expected to brush the Leeward Islands this afternoon and pass north of Guadaloupe.

The storm's latest location, pinpointed by the San Juan Weather Bureau, was near latitude 16.1 north, longitude 58.9 west, and moving to the west-northwest at about 9 m.p.h.

The weather bureau predicted some local flooding in the Leewards and heavy shower activity in the Leewards and the Windward Islands as a result of the storm.

Nixon, Agnew should resign, Nader asserts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ralph Nader says President Nixon and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew should resign in order to prevent "more paralysis of government."

The consumerist and public interest lawyer said Sunday, "The country would really be well served if these two officials would resign."

"I think enough has now been admitted or proved to indicate that Watergate was the massive tip of an iceberg that involved burglary and forgeries and sabotaging the election and selling government to corporate and other business contributors in a sort of mutual game of shakedowns and extortion and bribery," he said.

Nader said he thought Nixon consciously tried to avoid learning details about Watergate and the subsequent effort to cover up administration involvement.

"He knew enough not to want to know what was going on and that is a level of unaccountability and irresponsibility that I think should cause a resignation," Nader said.

"Otherwise, what will happen over the next year is more disclosures, more lawsuits, more uncertainty, more coverups, more turmoil, more paralysis of government. And that's strictly the alternative before us and the country will suffer."

He was not specific about why Agnew should resign, though he said both men failed to "manage a great deal of trust in government and are not "using government for fulfilling the needs of the people."

Man accused of impersonating an officer

ONTARIO — A Monrovia man, who attempted to have a friend of his released from West End Jail by impersonating a Los Angeles Police Department narcotics officer Sunday afternoon, was arrested by West End sheriff's deputies.

Robert William Figolah Jr., 23, of Monrovia, this morning found himself in jail booked on a charge of impersonating an officer, while his friend, Roger Sullivan, 24, also of Monrovia, was released pending an appearance in West Valley Municipal Court on a charge of drunk in public.

Deputies said that Sullivan was arrested early Sunday morning at the Ontario Motor Speedway on the simple drunk charge, and lodged in the West End Jail. About 2:30 p.m. Figolah walked in the sheriff's office clicking a pair of handcuffs behind him, claiming to be a Los Angeles narcotics officer and asking for Sullivan's release.

Deputies became suspicious, discovered he was not an officer and arrested him.

Head-on crash kills Chinoan

GLENDORA (UPI) — A 29-year-old Chino man died Sunday night in a two-car head-on collision in which nine other persons were injured.

Thomas Thorkildsen was driving a jeep without a top northbound on California 39 when a car driven by Agustin Aquilar, 39, jumped the divider line and hit Thorkildsen's jeep head-on.

The accident occurred near Crystal Lake in the San Gabriel Mountains northeast of here.

Four passengers in Thorkildsen's jeep were injured. They were Ginger Caligiuri, 27, and her children, Amy, 9, Mose, 8, and Sharon, 6.

Four passengers in Aguilar's car were also injured. They were Jesus Ocampo, 21, Jose Garcia, 23, Fernando Pireto, 15, all of Los Angeles, and a fourth unidentified person, who was in critical condition at Glendora Community Hospital.

Aquilar was taken into custody and transferred to Los Angeles County-USC Medical Center.

25 girls drown when ferry sinks

TAIPEI (UPI) —Twenty-five girls drowned today when an overloaded ferry boat carrying 775 passengers sprang a leak and sank off Kaohsiung habor in southern Taiwan, harbor officials said.

The officials said all the victims were on their way to work in factories near the harbor.

Pullout from Taiwan begins

TAIPEI, Taiwan (UPI) —As the first step in President Nixon's promise to Communist China to reduce U.S. troops stationed on Taiwan, a contingent of about 3,000 U.S. Air Force transport men have begun leaving Nationalist China.

The Nationalist China Defense Ministry said the remainder of the U.S. Air Force transport unit stationed here will be withdrawn "according to plans."

In Honolulu, Adm. Noel Gayler, commander in chief of U.S. Pacific military forces, announced Sunday that the 374th Tactical Airlift Wing, about 3,000 men, would be located in U.S. bases from Taiwan over the next several months.

A brief announcement by the Taiwanese Defense Ministry Sunday said part of the unit had already left and "withdrawal of the remaining part will continue according to plans."

Military sources said one of the four C130 squadrons comprising 16 planes had been moved out of Taiwan and personnel had been reduced by about 1,000 men.

The withdrawal of the 374th Tactical Airlift Wing will reduce the number of American military personnel in Taiwan to about 3,000, most of them "housekeeping logic personnel" manning noncombatant jobs in military post offices, banks and post exchanges.

Policeman attacked at OMS, injured by hostile crowd

ONTARIO — An Ontario police officer, assisting firemen putting out bonfires in the west parking lot of the Ontario Motor Speedway early Sunday, was attacked by a hostile rock and bottle throwing crowd.

Officer Dennis Finley, called to the speedway parking lot to assist firemen arguing with about 70 to 100 individuals throwing beer cans into a bonfire, suffered a head injury when the crowd suddenly turned on the police and firemen. The officers were pelted by dozens of rocks and bottles.

Finley requested assistance from other police officers after his car was damaged by the rock and bottle throwing crowd. Finley reported getting out of the car and being struck in the back of the head with a thrown rock. Firemen reported the hostile crowd was throwing rocks and bottles at their vehicles. When other officers arrived to aid Finley and the firemen, they found Finley temporarily blinded and dazed. His police unit's windows were smashed.

Firemen, despite the angry crowd, extinguished the bonfire. Amidst shouts of profanity and the shower of rocks and bottles police arrested two men who were later booked in West End jail on suspicion of disturbing the peace. Arrested were Michael Jason Worthing, 24, of 10822 Vernon Ave., Ontario, and William Gene Palmer, 19, of Fairbanks, Alaska.

Finley was given first aid treatment by firemen and released from duty.

Shortly before the rock and bottle throwing incident, police reported investigating another incident in the OMS west parking lot involving two men who said they were attacked by several other men wielding beer bottles, at 11:53 p.m. Saturday.

Police said that Joseph Leonard Riedle, 19, and Sam Bleven, 19, both from the Long Beach Naval Base suffered minor head injuries in the altercation.

Other than the attack on Finley and the assault on the two naval enlisted men, police said the crowd at the speedway before and after the race was generally orderly.

Two minor traffic accidents at Fourth Street and Vineyard Avenue, and on the San Bernardino Freeway-Archibald Avenue overpass following the race slowed exiting traffic, police said. Sgt. John Powers of the Ontario Police Department's traffic bureau said that most of the racing fans were on their way home within an hour and 20 minutes from the time the race ended.

Follows nationalization

Libyan oil price to double

BEIRUT (UPI) —The price of Libyan crude oil will be nearly doubled as a result of the nationalization of 51 per cent of six Western oil firms during the weekend, Libyan Prtmier Abdel Salem Jalloud said.

He also said Libya would no longer accept U.S. dollars in payment for its oil.

Other oil sources indicated Western companies may encounter similar nationalization measures in the Persian gulf states.

At a late-night news conference Sunday broadcast by Tripoli Radio, Jalloud said Libya wanted $6 a barrel for its oil—almost double the current price and more than double the $2.50 paid to Persian Gulf oil producers.

"Libya will no longer accept payment in U.S. dollars," he said. "The dollar has lost its value and we want a currency that is convertible to gold."

Libya announced Saturday it was nationalizing 51 per cent of five of the "major" oil companies operating in Libya. The companies were producing around 2.2 million barrels of oil a day, which automatically gives Libya control of 1.2 million barrels a day, oil sources said.

(In New York, oil company spokesmen said the United States consumes about 12 million barrels of oil a day. They said only a small fraction of Libyan oil is exported to the United States with the rest going to Europe.)

Jalloud said the flow of Libyan oil would continue uninterrupted and said Libya would fulfil its current supply contracts.

Five of the six companies forced Saturday to turn over 51 per cent control of their operations to the Libyan government were U.S. owned and the Arabs already have urged using oil as a weapon against the United States for its support of Israel in the Middle East crisis.

Petroleum sources in Tripoli, the Libyan capital, said oil-rich countries such as Abu Dhabi, Qatar and Saudi Arabia may follow Libya's lead and demand a revision of their "participation" and price agreements with the Western companies.

In a broadcast by Tripoli Radio, Libyan Premier Maj. Abdel Salam Jalloud Sunday advised Washington not to intervene in Libya's weekend takeover. He assured consumers, however, that the flow of Libyan oil will continue uninterrupted despite the nationalization and that compensation would be paid to the companies.

Oldest man in world dies at age 168

MOSCOW (UPI) —Shirali Mislimov's formula for a long and happy life was an easy one —a slow pace, clear air, natural food, a kind heart and work.

The Soviets say the formula was a good one—it kept him going 168 years, making him the world's oldest person.

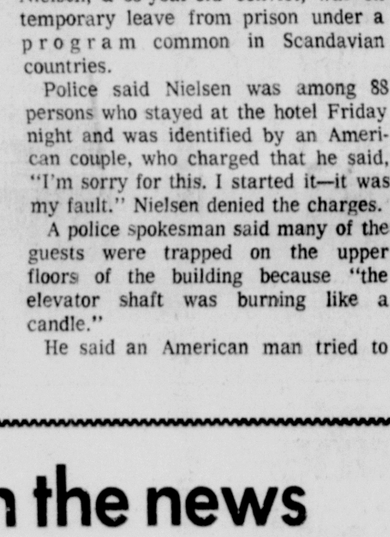
Sunday, the official Tass news agency announced Mislimov's death. In contrast to the thousands of words written about him in his lifetime, Mislimov's death was reported in a two-sentence dispatch. It said:

"The planet's oldest person, Azerbaijan peasant Shirali Mislimov, 168, died today after a serious illness. He died in his bed in the mountain village of Barzavu (Caucasus) where he has lived all his life."

Mislimov suffered pneumonia last winter, the first serious illness of his life, according to Soviet newspapers.

In recent years, each birthday was an opportunity for the craggy-faced, bearded peasant to tell Soviet reporters his philosophy of life.

"I was never in a hurry in my life," he said in 1971. "And I'm in no hurry to die now."



SHIRALI MISLIMOV

He tried smoking once—150 years ago—but got sick after three or four puffs. The only time he tried whiskey, he said, was in 1831. "I thought I was burning inside," he said.

His long life formula was delivered in the poetic language of his native Azerbaijani mountains.

"There are two sources of long life," he said. "One is a gift of nature, and it is the pure air and clean water of the mountains, the fruit of the earth, peace, rest, the soft and warm climate of the highlands.

"The second source is people. He lives long who enjoys life and who bears no jealousy of others, whose heart harbors no malice or anger, who sings a lot and cries a little, who rises and retires with the sun, who likes to work and who knows how to rest."

Mislimov, who had no birth records to back his age claim, is survived by his 107-year-old third wife, Hartun, and 219 other family members.

Middle East wants peace-- U.N. chief

By United Press International

U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim said Sunday Israeli and Arab leaders he met on a five-nation tour each told him they hoped for a peaceful solution to the Middle East crisis, "but the problem is how to realize this peace."

Israel, meanwhile, announced plans to restrict Arab labor in territory occupied in the 1967 Middle East war and established an industrial zone in occupied West Jordan.

Waldheim arrived in the Jordanian capital of Amman Sunday and planned to meet today with Palestinian leaders before winding up his five-nation trip.

He said that he arrived in the Middle East at a "difficult moment" in attempts to negotiate an end to the conflict, but "as the U.N. Secretary General I am always optimistic.

"Everybody has told me of their wish to reach a peaceful solution of the crisis," Waldheim said, "but the problem is how to realize this peace."

Waldheim planned his first meeting today with Palestinian leaders during a visit to a refugee camp, political sources in Amman said.

His trip included a helicopter flight over Jordan's frontlines with Israel and a visit to the Bakaa refugee camp to check on living conditions.

The camp leaders said they would present Waldheim with a petition demanding the restoration of their rights and property in Israel, political sources said.

The refugee camp trip in Jordan marked the end of Waldheim's Middle East tour, which also took him to Syria, Lebanon, Israel and Egypt.

In Jerusalem, the Israeli cabinet issued a communique Sunday that said an industrial zone was established in the Anatot area north of Jerusalem, a largely unpopulated region.

It also said Arab workers will be restricted in about 40 Jewish agricultural settlements, an apparent move to decrease Israeli dependence on Arab labor.

Convict on leave held as suspect in Copenhagen hotel fire; 35 die

COPENHAGEN (UPI) — Police seized a convict on leave from prison Sunday as an arson suspect in a raging fire that flashed a tower of flames through a downtown Copenhagen hotel, trapping dozens of sleeping tourists.

Authorities said 35 persons, including 20 Americans, died in the inferno early Saturday morning and charged that the 19th Century Hafnia hotel building was unsafe.

"The hotel was a fire trap and we several times warned Danish building authorities about this as well as other hotels of the old-fashioned type here," said Jan Amnizboell, chief of the Copenhagen fire department.

"They have no fire alarms, no iron doors, no sprinkler water pumps and not sufficient emergency doors," he said.

Police said the suspect, Bent Willy Nielsen, a 33-year-old convict, was on temporary leave from prison under a program common in Scandavian countries.

Police said Nielsen was among 88 persons who stayed at the hotel Friday night and was identified by an American couple, who charged that he said, "I'm sorry for this. I started it—it was my fault." Nielsen denied the charges.

A police spokesman said many of the guests were trapped on the upper floors of the building because "the elevator shaft was burning like a candle."

He said an American man tried to save his wife and two children by putting them in a bathtub filled with cold water.

All four were found dead. The man was sprawled across the tub, shielding his huddled family.

The fire was described by authorities as the worst hotel blaze in the city since World War II. Guests who survived described it as a horror story.

"I heard an explosion and then all turned into a nightmare," said one survivor, Dr. Arnauld Huddrant, 45, of Wolverhampton, England.

"The windows in my hotel room shattered and an orange flash-like fire from a torchburner poured into my room," he said. "I ran for my life through the dwindling and burning corridors and heard people scream among the flames in their rooms."

Congress back on Wednesday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress ends its month-long summer vacation Wednesday still under the shadow of Watergate and facing leftover business of presidential vetoes and power battles.

Leaders of the 93rd Congress say they hope to finish the first session by mid-October, but some members predict the session will stretch into December bogged down by the issues of impoundment, defense spending, tax reform and aid to education.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee will open hearings on Henry A. Kissinger's nomination as secretary of state Friday.

The Senate Watergate committee, which has given itself until early December to wind up testimony, plans to meet Sept. 10 and resume hearings the week of Sept. 17.

Congress may try to pass a fuel oil allocation bill aimed at making sure the East coast gets a fair share of heating oil this winter. But not much other action is expected on the energy crisis, food shortage or high prices.

The Senate will take up a House-passed treasury-postal appropriations bill designed to cut off a $1 million special projects budget for the White House and require congressional approval before tax revenues could be spent on privately owned presidential homes.

The House has scheduled action on State Department budget authorizations, home loan and flood insurance programs and continued operation of Amtrak.

When the lawmakers adjourned Aug. 3 they had ended bombing in Cambodia, passed a 5.9 per cent raise in social security benefits, agreed on a federal highway program and an increase in the minimum wage.

President Nixon vetoed five measures in the first seven months. Four of them were sustained and the House will vote on Sept. 12 on the fifth, an emergency medical services measure which the Senate has already voted to override.

Nixon is expected to veto the bill to raise the $1.60 an hour minimum wage to $2.20 this week.

Nixon ouster urged for abuse of power

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI) — Columnist Jack Anderson told a truckers convention during the weekend that President Nixon deserves to be put out of office for his "abuses of power." But he said impeachment proceedings would hurt American politics.

Weicker says won't seek higher office

GREENWICH, Conn. (UPI) —Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., R-Conn., a member of the Senate Watergate Committee, has no intention of seeking a higher office, and said no other figure should try to use favorable publicity gained during the Watergate case to do so, it was reported Sunday.

"If any man uses Watergate to capitalize on his political future," Weicker said, "we'll have failed in part of our job to further the truth."

In a published report in Sunday's New Haven Register, Weicker said he is lucky to be a senator and he hopes to be elected for a second term.

Wall street building hit

NEW YORK (UPI) —An explosion ripped through a four-story building in New York's Wall St. area Sunday, injuring one person and blowing out the entire facade of the structure.

Fire officials, sweating in the hot weather and choking dust, dug through the rubble to find out what caused the blast. A fire department official said it could have been a gas leak —or an explosive device. "We are not closing the doors on any possibility," he said.

The explosion would have caused a disaster had it occcured during a weekday when the office building is usually congested. The blast blew out the front facade and rear wall of the structure and shattered windows which triggered burglar alarms in a two block area. Ten other buildings were damaged in the area.

"Thank God this happened on a weekend," said Fire Capt. Joseph Weitekamp. "This area would have been mobbed during a weekday at the time the explosion took place."

Fourth day of UFO sightings with glow across Georgia sky

MANCHESTER, Ga. (UPI) — Two policemen said they had spotted a "white glowing object" with blue lights speeding across the horizon early today. It was the fourth straight day Georgia residents have reported seeing unidentified flying objects.

Two state troopers said they used binoculars to track the latest UFO near this West Georgia town. They said the craft had a "blue and a white light on either side and something hanging underneath."

Local authorities reported about 20 phone calls from other persons claiming to have seen the UFO.

A newspaper publisher in Camilla photographed one of the objects Saturday night.

Chester A. Tatum, publisher of the Sowega Free Press, said the craft had a "ribbed type design" and hovered some 1,000 feet above land.

Military authirities have refused comment about the rash of UFO sightings.

John Wayne toasts dying Ford

By STEWART SLAVIN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —The day before Academy Award-winning film director John Ford died, his old friend John Wayne was with him, offering a last toast to the man who "was my heart."

It was a meeting of two giants of the movie industry. But perhaps the setting might better have been in the quiet back country of southern Utah, in the Monument Valley, each of them riding horses.

It was there that Ford brought the Western film during the 1930s, bolting from the fake Hollywood sound stages to give Westerns authenticity and show man's heroism, capabilities and fortitude in a natural setting.

"This man was my heart," Wayne said of Ford, recalling the last nostalgic visit with the man he called "Pappy," who lifted Wayne from a gangly young actor with a lopsided grin into the role of Western hero in the 1938 classic "Stagecoach."

"I've never been closer to any person in my life than I have been with Jack," Wayne said, his voice cracking. "There was a communion between us that not many men have—as a matter of fact there were three of us, Ward (Bond), Jack and myself."

Wayne and Ford talked about the loss of Bond, who appeared in many of Ford's films and died of a heart attack in 1960.

"When I went to visit Jack the day before he left, he asked me, 'Do you miss Ward?'" Wayne said.

"I sure do Jack," Wayne replied, "and Jack said, well you're probably on the death watch anyway."

"No, you're the coach, you're the anchor; you'll bury us all," Wayne said to comfort his aging friend.

"Well," replied Ford, growing tired, "I'll try to stick around a little while longer."

Then Wayne suggested a toast, some brandy.

"I poured him a little drink and he said, 'all right now, I'll take a little nap," recalls Wayne.

Ford, the tough, 78-year-old patched-eye director who won six Academy Awards—more than any other American director—died the next day, Friday, after a long battle with cancer.

"Jack was a warm kind human being with a mighty rough exterior, and I loved him," Wayne said.

"He was a great talent, but he was also a wonderful man who knew how to handle talent better than anyone we've ever had in the business," the actor said.

Ford, who directed more than 200 films in a career spanning six decades and perhaps best known as the father of the American western epic, will be buried Wednesday in Culver City, California.

Rosary will be recited Tuesday in Blessed Sacrament Church, Hollywood. Cardinal Timothy Manning will officiate at the requiem Mass in the same church Wednesday morning.

Bandit robs bar, line of customers

POMONA — A man with a .45-caliber pistol fired a shot into the wall at the Viking tavern Sunday night and fled with money taken from the cash register and seven customers.

The holdup occurred shortly after 11:30. The robber, described as white, in his late 20s with brown hair and a brown mustache, fled on foot after warning everyone to not to follow him. The tavern is at 214 W. Holt ave.

Police reported that the man drank two beers and ordered a third before he pulled the gun on the barmaid, Caroline Ann Henthorn, 34. She said at first she thought he was joking but realized he wasn't and gave him money from the cash register. The the robber walked down the line of men sitting at the bar and took money from them. The shot, which blew up a glass globe, was fired when one patron was slow about giving up his money, $7.

When he was ready to leave, the robber forced another customer to break the tavern telephone to prevent the police being called.

The gunman was wearing a light suede jacket and tan trousers. He was about 5 feet 8 and weighed 150 pounds.

Car pins sleeping child inside tent

AZUSA — A 3-year-old child was run over by a car while he slept in a tent at Shady Oak Campgrounds in San Gabriel Canyon.

The victim, Richard Roy Martinez, Maywood, was reported in fair condition to day at Foothill Presbyterian Hospital in Glendora. He was being treated for head, chest and internal injuries.

The child's father, Paul Martinez, 30, told sheriff's deputies that a family friend, Mrs. Ines Alonzo, 43, Bell, was removing picnic equipment from her car parked uphill from the tent when the car began rolling. Before anyone could stop it, it ran into the tent, pinning th little boy.

The child was driven two miles to Williams Campgrounds where a telephone was available. Sheriff's deputies arrived and took him to the hospital in a radio car.

His horseplay proved costly

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — Dwain E. Llewellyn has found it doesn't pay to try to pick up some dogs by the ears.

Police said Llewellyn slipped behind a dog named Trooper recently and pulled him by his ears. Trooper, a member of the Norfolk Police Department's K9 corps, bit Llewellyn on the left leg.

Then his handler, patrolman E. C. Goumenis, charged Llewellyn with drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

Political dirty tricks old stuff in S. Korea

By PHIL NEWSOM

Political dirty tricks are old stuff in South Korea and go considerably beyond the business of throwing tomatoes or rotten eggs at opposition candidates.

The latter is practiced but is considered minor league.

Nor do the so-called dirty tricks end when the campaign is over.

The losers and their prominent supporters may very well find themselves in jail on any of a variety of charges ranging from violation of South Korea's stringent anti-communist laws to bribery.

The high cost of opposition did not originate with South Korea's present generation of politicians.

Syngman Rhee, South Korea's first president, had a longtime history as a revolutionary during the years of Japanese occupation. It is said that during one of his periods of imprisonment his jailers inserted burning splinters under his fingernails.

Blow on fingers

For years afterward during periods of contemplation he would blow absent mindedly on his fingers as if to cool his damaged nails.

Kim Dae Jung is a Korean politician and central figure in a dramatic example of a Korean political dirty trick.

In broad daylight six Koreans kidnaped him from his Tokyo hotel room, spirited him by automobile to Japan's south coast and then placed him aboard a cargo vessel.

Some days later they dumped him alive but bruised in an alley near his home in Seoul.

Kim noted that his captors had acted with the cool efficiency of professionals, and there seemed no doubt the reason for their actions had been Kim's sharp criticism of the Korean government led by President Chung Hee Park.

Park's government denied any connection with the kidnaping but the finger of suspicion pointed at the South Korean CIA, a government agency responsible for South Korean security both outside and inside the country.

Park had defeated Kim in 1971 presidential elections but Kin had won 46 per cent of the vote.

Continues attacks

Kim left Korea in October, 1972, after Park's declaration of martial law and assumption of virtually unlimited powers, and continued his attacks on the Park government in Japan and the United States.

In the United States various harassing tactics had been used against him and others opposing the Park government, so much so that the United States on various occasions had discussed the matter with officials of the Korean embassy.

South Korea's CIA drew international attention in 1967 when it was accused of masterminding the abduction of 17 South Korean dissidents from West Germany.

At present it is run by Lee Hu Rak, described as South Korea's most powerful man next to President Park.

He has represented the president in talks with communist North Korea and is noted as a behind-the-scenes negotiator. In a confrontation with prominent South Korean army generals last spring he came out on top and the generals went to jail.

When Rak's name is mentioned in Seoul, it is in whispers.

Citrus group will sponsor Vegas night

AZUSA — Friends of Citrus College will gather at the San Dimas Community Center Saturday for a "Las Vegas Night" to help raise funds for a number of college programs.

The event will begin at 7 p.m. and includes dinner, refreshment and entertainment provided by the college's music department.

Tickets are $20 per couple and include a family pass to all of Citrus' 1973 home football games. They may be purchased through the college bookstore.

Proceeds from the event will be used to help cover expenses of the programs not covered in the college's budget, such as stadium equipment repairs and some community service programs.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Police Detective Lt. Chino woman injured in motorcycle mishap

POMONA — A young Chino woman suffered a broken leg Sunday afternoon when the motorcycle on which she was riding double was hit by a car.

The passenger, Bonnie Sue McGhie, 20, 4470 Lugo St., Chino, was treated at Pomona Valley Community Hospita' and transferred to County-USC Medical Center.

Police said the motorcycle, driven by Ira L. Crouser, 23, 898 S. Rebecca St., was northbound on E Street when the collision occurred with a car turning left at Puddingstone Drive. The driver of the car, Larry W. Simpson, 34, 1485 Aruba Court; said he didn't see the motorcycle, police reported.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You are going to shirk responsibilities today. You're not going to get away with it, though you think you will.

TAURUS (April 20 May 10) This is not a good day for you to try to borrow. If one does lend you something, it will have too many strings attached.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) A decision you'll make today will go over like a lead balloon with your mate or partner. Do nothing without his co-operation.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You will overreact if ordered to do anything you feel isn't your idea. You'll also be bossy towards others.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) The way you handle money matters today could end up in real problems. This is not a good day to either buy or sell.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You won't be an easy person for the family to be around today. You'll find fault too easily. Loosen up.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Count to 10 before you give that certain party a piece of your mind. Harboring a grudge is unlike you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 234-Nov. 22) Be generous today only with those who fully appreciate it. Someone expects something from you. They won't be grateful.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Take necessary cautious steps today to protect your reputation. Don't pal around with those beneath you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You tend to be selfish today, thinking of your interests before others. This behavior will cause guilt feelings.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Someone you have dealings with will pretend they are telling you everything. You must probe deeper for the facts.

An Avon lady helps crack theft ring

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —An Avon lady who noticed her stolen radio in the home of a customer helped cracked a youthful burglary ring.

Three 18-year-old youths who admitted stealing $10,000 in loot in 25 burglaries were sentenced to jail Wednesday.

Mrs. Stanley Geiser, a door-to-door saleswoman, said she saw her stolen 8-transistor radio in the home of one of the youths and reported it to deputies, who found a "pickup truck load" of stolen goods in a bedroom of the home.

Giving trick for insurance

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Jim: "Remember your old friend Generous George who was always giving away tricks but getting them back with interest? Here is a real Generous George hand."

Oswald: "It sure is. Dummy's ace of clubs wins the first trick and the jack of trumps is led. East covers with the queen and South must let that queen hold."

Jim: "George would have made a little speech: 'I just let the queen hold. I might be giving up an overtrick but I wanted to make my slam and my generosity insured the contract as long as East didn't hold all five trumps. It didn't matter what East did. I would get to ruff one club in dummy and wind up with five spades, the ace of clubs and a club ruff in dummy plus four trumps and the diamond ace in my own hand.'"

Oswald: "If he had won that first heart and ruffed a club in an effort to make seven the hand would really collapse. You would have had any number of lines of play at your disposal but none of them would allow you to make more than 11 tricks and some would have left you with only 10."

Heavy security for Algerian conferences

ALGIERS (UPI) — At first glance, the white and red brick villas dotting the hillside bordered at the top by a thicket of pine trees and marked at the bottom by the Mediterranean waters look like an exclusive Riviera-type summer resort.

But the military helicopters circling overhead and men in blue and dark green uniforms guarding all approaches to the area change the first impression almost immediately.

The spot which lies about 12 miles west of Algiers is called the Club des Pins (Club of the Pines), taking its name from the trees at the top. This is where a summit conference of more than 60 nonaligned countries from Asia, Africa, South America and Europe will meet Sept. 5-8 following preparatory sessions by experts and foreign ministers.

The helicopters and the uniformed guards are part of a massive security apparatus set in motion by the Algerian government to guard the participating heads of state and government who will stay at the villas and meet at a domed conference hall in the same area.

Foreign diplomats in Algiers believe more than 20,000 men from four different security services have been mobilized to do the job.

They include regular police wearing blue uniforms, elite forces in dark green uniforms, secret service agents in plain clothes and army troops attired as police. all are armed with pistols. Some received special courses in security techniques months before the conference.

Access to the Club des Pins requires special passes issued only after the most careful screening.

Bearing in mind the recent spate of world-wide guerrilla activity and that many of the participating leaders have enemies abroad or at home who might try to slip into Algiers to make trouble, the Algerian authorities are taking no chances.

Funny business

English medics won't budge; Hughes relents

LONDON (UPI) —Howard Hughes was "smuggled into the London Clinic" for an operation on his hip when a surgeon refused to operate in Hughes' hotel hideaway, the London Daily Express reported.

The newspaper's gossip column, written under the pseudonym of William Hickey, said Hughes broke a small bone in his hip and sent two aides to persuade an eminent surgeon to perform corrective surgery in the ninth floor hotel suite where Hughes, with characteristic secrecy, has been secluded for months.

"An operating theater would be set up" at the hotel, the newspaper said the Hughes aides told the surgeon. "A fully qualified anaesthetist would be hired. And, it goes without saying, expense was no object."

But Hughes "ran up against the immovable force of British medical etiquette," the newspaper said. The surgeon told Hughes' men "he had never operated in a hotel room and never would, no matter how high the fee."

"JAMBO" Swahili for hello. 4 spaces left as of Monday. 24 are confirmed on the October 12 departure for REVELATION AFRICA tour by TRAVELWORLD on which Florence and Bob Minto will accompany the group. Thirteen from Pomona, Covina, Los Angeles, 2 from Toronto, 4 from Dallas and balance from Atlanta and Eastern cities. September 12 a demonstration and briefing on Packing and What to Wear on Safari will be held at Pomona Travel Agency for those confirmed on the tour.

An interesting development occurred when two of the "Safarians", approximately age of 43, received their Small-pox, Cholera, and Yellow Fever shots all at one "sitting" from the San Bernardino County Clinic at a cost of $13.00 each person. Appointments are necessary. Must be hale and hearty... and under no other medication, a prime requisite. Check with your own doctor. We receive so many calls each week asking about shots required and if they can be doubled up. Demand scheduling by TWA and American are cheaper than one-way bus or train fares during the mid-week from October 16 to May. The new Mid-week excursion fare, also offered by United, has similar fares, $179.95 to most East Coast cities. The 7-9 return limitation permits passengers originating on Tuesday to return the following week on Tuesday, Wednesday, or Thursday. Thursday departures allow Thursday returns only. Tickets must be purchased and validated for a specific out-bound flight a minimum of 7 days before departure. A good dollar value with a minimum of limitations. Watch out for Blackout dates. Adv.

Police chief favors blimps over cruisers

LITCHFIELD PARK, Ariz. (UPI) —Police blimp patrols, hovering over traffic and fleeing robbers, might be much more effective than patrol cars, the police chief of Tempe, Ariz., believes.

Chief Arthur Fairbanks said recently the city has commissioned a $35,000 feasibility study on use of blimps in crime prevention with the Goodyear Aerospace Corp.

"Blimp patrols could see 10 times more than they could in a patrol car," he said, providing observation platforms for traffic control and directing patrol cars to crime scenes.

It was instant bad luck after mirrors broke

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Steve Cauyler broke a lot of mirrors recently, $4,000 worth, and sure enough, he immediately had some bad luck.

Cuyler was driving a truck loaded with mirrors when it overturned on the Hollywood Freeway, smashing the load and covering the rordway with shiny glass.

Officers investigating the accent discovered that Cuyler was driving without a license and was wanted for several unpaid traffic tickets, they said. He was arrested.

Inflation, strikes, shortages

Things not going well in Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — Things are not going well for most of Chile's 10 million people as services and supplies continue to break down under the government of President Salvador Allende, the world's first freely elected Communist chief of state.

Chile's common citizen is now confronted with a seemingly endless spiral of price hikes, strikes, street demonstrations and material shortages.

Bread stores and gasoline stations are guarded by police carrying submachine guns to maintain order in the lines, often blocks-long, of Chileans hopeful to get some of these rationed products.

It seems that there is a shortage of almost everything these days:

It's hard to get a drink. There is no whisky, gin or most other spirits. Wine, an export product, is scarce because bottles are not readily available.

It's hard to get a decent meal in a restaurant—there hasn't been beef available for months. The alternatives, chicken, pork and seafood, face a distribution crisis created by a truckers' strike. Chicken, by the way, is imported, frozen, from China.

The blueplate special recently at one of the best hotels in Santiago featured fried beans and eggs.

It's hard to get anywhere. Taxis are on strike and buses are scarce and crowded and also subject to stoning by angry demonstrators.

If you want to shave, bring your own razor from abroad. Only the blades are on sale here, not the razors. Also, you can't find shaving cream.

You can find toothbrushes but not toothpaste. Toilets but no toilet paper. Pipe tobacco and pipes but no matches or pipe cleaners.

Want to buy a car? There's a two-year waiting list, and few spare parts or tires.

Want to see a doctor? Wait until the doctors' strike is over.

Want to save your money? Don't put it away in a bank. Inflation, the world's highest, is currently running at one per cent per day.

Three years ago the escudo was valued at 12 to the dollar. Today it is officially 300 to the dollar. The black market rate, which more nearly reflects the real purchasing power of the escudo, is approaching 2,000 to the dollar.

You can't wash your underwear because detergents are hard to find. For that matter, it's hard to find underwear, either. Stocks in clothing stores are down to rock bottom.

Walking along streets in downtown Santiago can be an adventure. Street demonstrations have become virtually a daily affair as rival political groups explode in emotional outbursts.

The capital's highly professional police force, the "Carabineros," often has to resort to firing dozens of teargas canisters, imported from the U.S. at $8 a shell, to break up rampaging demonstrators.

It is during these episodes that the stoicism of the average Chilean citizen becomes apparent. Most go about their business as if nothing unusual is happening.

The lighter side

Sen. Sam freaks groove on Watergate

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon believes, and recent polls tend to confirm, that the public is tired of the Watergate hearings and ready to see the matter consigned to the courts.

I'm convinced, however, that for every person who is weary of Watergate there's another who is thoroughly hooked on the investigation and yearns for the hearings to resume.

You can see these poor devils during the current recess milling aimlessly around the locked and silent Caucus Room where the Watergate committee meets.

For them, life is empty, shorn of meaning by the committee's decampment.

Some are Senator Sam freaks who groove on the chairman's homilies, anecdotes and folks recitations. Deprived of their daily fix of Ervinisms, they sink into lassitude, hollow-eyed wretches scarcely more than living dead.

Others are vicarious thrillseekers whose nerve ends are set atingle by the dramatic, incisive way that Sen. Montoya eschews obfuscation and impales a witness with penetrating questions.

Denied that stimulus, they seek subtitute emotional enkindlement of auto demolition derbies.

I know a housewife, Millie Piercelobe, who goes to the television set a half dozen times a day, confused and bewildered, her mind refusing to accept the fact that the hearings aren't on.

But I doubt that anyone misses the hearings more than Fess Parker, the actor noted for his portrayal of Davy Crockett.

I recently got a letter from Parker in which he confided he is beset by a consuming desire to play the role of Sam Ervin in a television series based on the Watergate case.

Frankly, I don't see Parker in that part. It's the type of role that would better suit the talents of Richard Burton. Or maybe Woody Allen.

But Parker has his heart set on it. "Hopefully," he wrote, "I will mature enough in a few years to develop eyebrows such as Sen. Ervin's."

Casting eyebrows aside, Parker obviously has hit upon a splendid way to fill the void that will be left in so many lives when the hearings finally end.

Way to finance Valley Blvd. project proposed

POMONA — Public Works Director Ronald Kranzer will recommend to the City Council Tuesday night that Los Angeles County be asked to advance the $485,000 Pomona needs as its share of the cost for the improvement of Valley Boulevard.

Pomona has to come up with the $485,000 this fiscal year in order to qualify for $250,000 in assistance available under the Federal Aid Secondary Urban Extension (FASUE) program.

Valley is proposed to be improved from Pomona Boulevard to Grand Avenue, a stretch that touches the cities of Pomona, Industry and Walnut.

In a letter to the council, Kranzer provides a breakdown of gas tax funds available this fiscal year for public works projects and commitments.

Of $1,026,581 available for 1973-74, $300,000 is earmarked to help offset the cost of street maintenance, an additional $39,368 had been committed as of Aug. 13 for contracts and agreements.

Furthermore, the city has committed an additional $389,989 for seven other public works projects, leaving a balance of $297,224.

But Kranzer said three more projects have been programmed for 1973-74 as part of a five-year capital improvement program. Some $250,000 is needed for the realignment of White Avenue, $121,000 for the improvement of Bonita Avenue from the west city limits to Garey Avenue, and $90,000 for the construction of a pedestrian bridge at Valley and Norton Street.

Delay other work

"It is clear to see from the recap that the projects programmed for the remainder of this year can't be accomplished without some delay—final payments coming after the beginning of the next fiscal year—or partial funding from other sources," said Kranzer.

"Therefore, for the city to consider funding even one-half of the designated cost of the Valley Boulevard project would mean the postponing of the three (White, Bonita and the overcrossing) projects programmed for this year," Kranzer said.

Because of the importance of the Valley pedestrian overcrossing and the long-range commitment for the White realignment, I would recommend that the City Council approve having the staff proceed on these projects in the course of available funds," Kranzer said.

He further recommends that:

"An official request be made to have the county fund in its entirety the Valley project from Grand to Pomona Boulevard and that the city will agree to reimburse the county by a partial assignment of Pomona's Section 2106 state gas tax funds for fiscal years 1974-75 and '75-'76 in an amount not to exceed one-half the cost of the improvements within the jurisdictional boundaries of Pomona — estimated as of now at $250,000—the remaining $250,000 cost in the city would have to be considered as an allocation of Highway Through Cities funds by the county."

May cancel contract

During the consent calendar portion of the 8 p.m. meeting, the council will consider cancellation of a contract authorized Aug. 20 paying former City Administrator Ora E. Lampman $500 for the remainder of August and $1,000 a month after that for his services as a special consultant at least one day per week.

In a cover letter, Mayor Ray J. Lepire suggested the cancellation, saying the council appeared "very close" to making a selection of someone to replace Lampman, who resigned July 1.

Other matters in the consent calendar are:

—Final acceptance of the Sharkey Park development.

—Resolution awarding the contract for the resurfacing of Indian Hill Boulevard from American to Holt avenues.

—Issuance of proclamations declaring September as Junior Month and Sept. 9-15 as Square Dance Week.

Other matters scheduled for Tuesday are:

—Hearing, continued from Aug. 13, on the public necessity for formation of Underground Utility District No. 3, in Holt Avenue from Dudley Street to Hamilton Boulevard. Kranzer has asked for another continuance to Sept. 24.

—Hearing on the appeal of Planning Commission resolution granting a conditional use permit for development of an automatic car wash and gasoline service station at 1805 Indian Hill, W. D. Groth and E. C. Bauter, appellants.

—Hearing on notice to abate unsafe condition of dwelling at 1156 S. Thomas St.

—First reading of an ordinance raising the fees for impoundment and boarding of animals at the animal shelter operated by the Humane Society of Pomona Valley.

—Letter of resignation from Planning Commissioner W. R. Hagstrom.

—Request of Historical Society of Pomona Valley for use of city equipment and manpower for cleanup of brush and debris at the Palomares Adobe.

—Presentation of preliminary draft of a proposed five-year capital improvement program.

—Resolution of the Community Redevelopment Commission recommending adoption of policies and guidelines for the city's redevelopment program.

A meeting at 4 p.m. of the Tri-City Mental Health Authority's governing body will precede the Pomona council's afternoon meeting.

The council will consider the recommended increase in the per diem rate for city employes and commissioners for conferences from $25 to $40.

The council also will consiser an administration-proposed automobile allowance-mileage reimbursement for the mayor and councilmen, and a recommended police department grant for an expanded administrative service division with planning and research personnel.

The council will meet in executive session for personnel and other matters, including the appointment of members of the new youth commission, the bicentennial committee and city centennial committee.

Relief on way for those irritated by copter noise

The police helicopter started buzzing low all around this vicinity on Aug. 3 at about midnight.

It kept up constantly and at 1:30 a.m. I called the station and asked the police to please have the helicopter removed, as we were trying to sleep.

The officer said there had been three shootings over toward the west part of town and it was necessary for the helicopter to keep flying around here. It kept flying around till 2:15 a.m.

My husband will be 62 this November. He is a machinist trying to hold down a job working 10 hours a day and sometimes on Saturday. Luckily he didn't have to work Saturday, Aug. 4.

As I have a bad heart condition, I have to take medicine for it and to be able to sleep at nights. Also I have allergy problems which make me very nervous.

We are having constant problems with dogs barking all night long. Some nights are worse than others. So when a quiet night comes along, we would appreciate very much not to be bothered with the loud noise from the helicopter. That is a peace disturbance and also a waste of gasoline.—Mrs. H. J., Pomona.

Forest P. Wallick, Pomona's police chief, reports that for 100 minutes on the night of Aug. 3, the helicopter assisted in the search for suspects in a fatal shooting and also assisted in the arrest of 10 persons by using the light numerous times.

In making a search with the helicopter, the chief explains, it is necessary to fly in wide circles or back and forth, depending on the area where the suspects are located. He says he is sure the helicopter did fly close to or over your home several times during the search.

The police department hopes to cut the noise of the helicopter by approximately 60 per cent by installing a muffler which should go into production in three or four months.

Chief Wallick expressed regret that you were annoyed by the sound of the helicopter.

Almost three years ago Los Angeles Airways, an airline that I was working for, went bankrupt. I filed my case with the state labor commissioner indicating that I had close to $400 in due wages.

I have not yet received this money.

I am familiar with the red tape of governmental agencies and the time it consumes but I feel that three years is long enough to withhold a man's wages from him.—L.B., Pomona.

"Sorry we cannot shed brighter rays of hope but we have done everything possible under the law," a California Department of Industrial Relations representative wrote to you following an inquiry from Action Line.

After delving into the complexity of bankruptcy laws, he pointed out that administrative costs are always paid first in any bankruptcy. He didn't hold out much hope that there would be additional assets to pay the wage claims.

A year ago we had a patio installed. It consisted of a cement slab, roof and a three-foot wall.

A few days after the workers had left, we found one of the top bricks was loose enough to fall and break.

We called the man in charge. He said he would take care of it. He never did, even though we called him numerous times.

About two months ago, we discovered a section of the wall was very loose. He said he would fix it as soon as he could. Weeks passed and we called the president of the company. We received promises but no action.

Three times there has been a near accident because of the loose wall. We simply cannot get anywhere with anyone involved with this situation.—Mr. and Mrs. M.R., Diamond Bar.

A few days after we wrote to the company president, you wrote to let us know that your patio had been repaired.

Later a company representative informed us that the subcontractor who was responsible for the work had taken care of the repairs.

Preschool program will operate here

POMONA — The state preschool program will be in operation in four Pomona schools this fall for children too young to attend kindergarten.

Classes will be limited to 20 children each and will be taught at Alcott, Allison, Kellogg and San Jose elementary schools.

Registration will be on a first-come, first-serve basis, according to Judy Sneed, district preschool specialist who is coordinating this program.

Qualifications for enrollment are similar to those for Head Start, with the Department of Public Social Services certifying eligibility.

Classes will meet from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. A hot lunch will be served each day.

Transportation will not be provided so parents interested in enrolling their children must be able to arrange private transportation.

Registration will be held at the preschool office at Kingsley Elementary School, 1170 Washington Ave. beginning Tuesday. The office will be open daily from 8:30 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4:30 p.m. The telephone number is 623-5251, extension 317.

Ornamental iron course offered again

POMONA — The Pomona Adult School again this fall will offer one of its most popular classes, ornamental ironwork.

It will begin Tuesday, Sept. 11, in the metal shop at Garey High School. Enrollments are being accepted now in the Adult School office of the District Education Center at 800 S. Garey Ave.

The class is open to anyone 18 or over.

It will meet each Tuesday and Thursday from 6:45 to 10:15 p.m. There is a $5 per person lab fee and a $2.25 registration fee.

James Melton is the instructor.

The Garey metal shop contains the necessary equipment for the wrought-iron work, Melton said. In the past, students have turned out projects ranging from furniture to railings and fences.

Heavy penalties await drivers without red tabs

California car owners who failed to obtain 1973 registration stickers for their vehicles may face heavy penalties.

Highway patrolmen have been requested to cite drivers of those vehicles whose license plates do not bear the bright red tabs that indicate current registration, said Robert C. Cozens, director of the state Department of Motor Vehicles.

Operating an unregistered vehicle is a misdemeanor that normally requires a fine, he explained. In addition, once caught the owner is required to register and pay a 100 per cent penalty for violating the Feb. 2 deadline.

As a last resort, the unregistered vehicle cam be impounded.

Each year, renewal is complicated by those car owners who have failed to register their vehicles during the previous year, said Cozens.

Often vehicle purchasers are faced with being held responsible for the fees and penalties for the past year.

"A recent survey of city police departments proves there has been no breakdown on the part of local law enforcement officials," he added.

"Their traffic officers and meter maids are ticketing everyone that comes to their attention. However, we are asking for this special enforcement check by the California Highway Patrol to clean up our records for the 1974 renewal processing."

Pomona schools begin new year on Sept. 12

POMONA — With a new curriculum emphasis on both the elementary and high school levels Pomona schools will begin the fall semester on Sept. 12.

A greater emphasis on personalization of instruction will be seen at all grade levels as well as a stress on career orientation extending the high school into the community.

Pomona schools will offer remedial math and reading at the high school level and the use of learning centers will allow students to progress at their own rate with day-by-day diagnostic testing and prescriptive instruction.

New programs will be impiemented throughout the district to expand enrichment and individualized instruction to 13 elementary schools, extend a new social studies program from grades one through three into grades five and six, use interdisciplinary team teaching at Marshall Junior High School and introduce a demonstration reading program at Fremont Junior High School.

With career education the goal two new programs have been introduced in the high schools and career guidance centers will be set up at the schools.

SOL, the Sharing Our Lives program, began during the summer as an exploration into careers. Working with the Kiwanis Club of Pomona students received school credit while working at a career station provided by Kiwanis Club members.

Students reported to a career station each day for six weeks for a two-hour exposure to the world of employment. Stations were rotated every two weeks.

VALUE, the Voluntary Action Learning Understanding Experience program, will begin this fall and will allow students to volunteer their services to worthwhile non-profit agencies or institutions for school credits. Students will earn one unit of credit for every 18 hours of verified service with a qualified agency or institution.

In the course students will gain insight into the area of voluntary action to appreciate the need for social action and the effort being made in this area.

At Garey High School a Career Development program will allow students to spend a day in a career situation to gain insight into career selection.

Registration dates for all Pomona schools will be Tuesday through Thursday from 9 a.m. to noon and again from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.

Enrollment for the district has been estimated at 18,241 on the first day of school with a projected maximum enrollment during the year of 19,935.

Five new administrators have been named to district school positions. They are Wesley D. Rood, principal of Armstrong Elementary School; Leonard Duff, principal, Palomares Junior High School; E. David Barker, assistant principal of Palomares Junior High School; Ronald Bennett, assistant principal of Madison Elementary School; and Thomas C. McGuire, internal evaluator, compensatory education.

U.S. alone in honoring labor

Although not as singularly American a holiday as Thanksgiving, Labor Day has several distinctly American touches which significantly distinguish it from similar occasions the world around.

We, for example, have chosen September for this annual salute to the working man.

Elsewhere, at least in those societies permitting such manifestations, the preferred date is May 1 and the accent, if not always aggressively Marxist, is strongly on class — on social division, not unity. Internationally, May Day is the proletariat's red-letter day, a time for toiling masses to demonstrate solidarity in an economic contest with more favored classes. Us against them.

Here, the emphasis is also on mass, but of a different definition. This is a day for the nation en masse — assembly line worker, manager, those in the professions. The working man in the United States is virtually everyman, the entire adult population conceived as laboring together to produce and sharing in the benefits of the national plenty.

It was not always thus. The first Labor Day, observed in New York on Sept. 5, 1882, was a militant demonstration, a demand for rights and recognition.

The battle was prolonged and often bitter, but American labor has long since won recognition. Its rights, underwritten by a mass of social legislation unmatched in the world, are now integral to the structure of our society.

We still have our clashes of economic interest, bargaining breakdowns and strikes. But the dialogue, sharp though it may be at times, in the context of the American experience has taken on a singularly American character.

As democratic capitalism has developed in this country, the sense of class, never so strong here as in the various old countries from which we sprang, has diminished. Laboring commoners can and do speak to economic kings, and in terms of living standards it is not always easy to tell them apart.

There has been a parallel development in the significance of Labor Day. Not class but mass solidarity is the message now. It is an occasion not for demonstrations and militant oratory, but a day for each American — blue collar and white collar — to observe and enjoy in his own way, and through private observance to join in a public affirmation of the American achievement.

GOP wide open for youth in '76

One experienced Republican is arguing that another factor — a perhaps overdue "generational switch" — could be added onto Watergate to push the GOP toward new faces in its 1976 presidential quest.

It happened for the Democrats in 1960 with the nomination of the late John F. Kennedy. His assassination produced the accidental flashback to Lyndon Johnson and then Hubert Humphrey.

But the Democratic party got back on the young side with Sen. George McGovern, and probably will stay there the next time or two.

Says this Republican source:

"If we don't go for somebody younger it may look as if we're just doing reruns."

Take this kind of talk seriously, and you're eliminating a fair batch of prospects, including Vice President Agnew and Govs. Reagan and Rockefeller.

Rocky is the most openly ambitous of the lot, and totally clean of Watergate. But if age (68 in 1976) doesn't do him in, then the fact he's been suited up or running much of the time since 1960 may do it.

Reagan has tried only once, belatedly in 1968, but he's been a national political figure for nine years and today strikes some observers as a little grumpy for an old movie smoothie who used to dazzle Republican audiences with his witty sallies.

Of course he too is untouched by Watergate, but he's made a generalized defense of the Nixon administration which could hurt if a flock of new convictions for perjury and obstructing justice come floating along.

Already well discussed is Agnew's handicap in just having been out on the track with Mr. Nixon. He's the teammate, ignorant though he may have been of Watergate. And he's been firing from the Nixon trenches for nearly half a decade.

That about wipes the slate clean of oldies. John Connally was out before he was in.

We nevertheless have to agree with critics who say polls showing Sens. Charles Percy and Howard Baker edging Ted Kennedy right now don't mean a thing.

Baker is riding a crest of attention from the Ervin Watergate hearings.

Percy is about as popular with influential Republicans as a defeated candidate for sheriff. And he is largely unknown. In a meaningless early poll he would have one advantage. His name is not Agnew; Reagan or Rockefeller. He sounds different and he does happen to be young.

SOMEBODY has to win the nomination in 1976, and it may well be one or the other of these younger two — or someone similarly fresh. All we know today is that evidently the voters think the party's veteran rodeo riders look somewhat too scarred and leathery of countenance for them.

Declaration of nonindependence

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has subtly informed the regulators he picks to protect consumers that he is far more concerned about their loyalty to him than he is about their freedom of judgment.

So outraged was one honest appointee that, even though he was handpicked by the White House, he went to his Democratic senator to complain he had been leaned on.

Agencies like the Federal Power Commission, the Federal Trade Commission, the Federal Communications Commission and the Interatate Commerce Commission are among the least romantic sounding offices in town.

But to the consumer, they mean safe-or-unsafe air flights, fair-or-foul ads, good-or-bad TV, higher-or-lower utility rates and clean-or-dirty food. Even though their members are presidential appointees, they are supposed to act independently of the White House. Several months ago, concerned over too much Democratic-type thinking by his regulators and administrators, Nixon had his then chief of staff, H. R. Haldeman, send a private memo to all new appointees.

Cromley column

A copy of the terse memo has reached us. Attached was a column by pro-Nixon writer Ray Cromley, which Haldeman says "The President has read and feels it's important that you have a copy."

The column so endorsed by the President says, "A relatively small group of willful men scattered in key positions through the government have for almost four years actively sabotaged the programs sponsored by their President." It goes on to say that "the President now aims at weeding out" these dissenters.

Haldeman, still quoting the President's views, said Nixon wanted the regulators and other appointees to read the column "so that you will thoroughly understand the basis for (Nixon's) concerns regarding the necessity of avoiding having his policies sabotaged by holdovers in the bureaucracy."

Then, like a grammar school teacher admonishing an eraser-throwing child, Haldeman said, "It is, of course, your responsibility to see that this doesn't happen."

One of the many appointees to get this "loyalty package" was Robert Morris, a San Francisco attorney picked to fill a slot at the Federal Power Commission, now dealing with the energy crisis.

Though Morris was later to be turned down by the Senate for his pro-industry background, he was so incensed by the Nixon-Haldeman lecture that he wrote to his senator, John Tunney.

"I leave it to your calmer head," Morris wrote Tunney, "to determine whether the essential message — especially the strong fatherly advice of the final sentence of the memorandum — is not: 'Brother, you may think you're being appointed to an independent agency, but don't think for a minute that you're independent.' "

FOOTNOTE: Robert Morris was vacationing in the California mountains when we tried to reach him. H. R. Haldeman, through his attorney John J. Wilson, told our associate Joseph Spear that the memo was "authentic and routinely sent to every nominee at the direction of the President."

Lawyers limping through Watergate

The law profession is going to come limping through Watergate with at least one big black eye. Most all of these lawbreakers are lawyers. Crafty lawyers, allowing themselves unprecedented latitude in recent years through legal loopholing, set themselves up for this.

It has become axiomatic in cities that you don't hire a lawyer. Well, that could go on just so far in behalf of paying clients before devious barristers were going to outsmart themselves.

That's what they did if it's established that White House lawyers construed their self-interest to supersede the law itself. Yet even as the Watergate probe progresses, the lawyers are hiring lawyers to use this soap-opera scenario to their advantage.

William Hundley is lawyer John Mitchell's lawyer. He will tell you quite frankly that he intends to get his client off by protesting that a "fair trial is now impossible," his client having been forced to make a public disclosure of his defense.

Mitchell's presumed aside, during the second day of his testimony, was no idle remark. He said, "It's quite a trial they're conducting here, isn't it?"

That statement set the stage for lawyer Mitchell's lawyer eventually to claim that a "second trial" would constitute "double jeopardy."

Members of the committee, enjoying the limelight, rationalize that ventilation of the whole truth is more important than sending a few people to prison.

That reaction construes lawyers to be judges! Despite the numbers of practicing lawyers now implicated in this thing, formal complaints have been lodged only against John Ehrlichman and Egil (Bud) Krogh and only by the state of Washington Bar Assn.

Unless public respect for the legal profession per se is to be sacrificed, the ABA had better mobilize its ethical majority to recognize and remedy a malignancy which has metastasized almost everywhere.

My mail since months before Watergate has included an increasing number of protestations from people distressed by excesses and abuses and whitewashed blackmail by greedy lawyers.

Complaints range from the milking of estates to old-fashioned ambulance chasing, from contrived settlements under duress to actual extralegal activities.

The American Bar Assn. has the authority to investigate and the prerogative to recommend disbarment of the errant, yet such discipline has been so rare that few fear it.

If the ABA procrastinates long in the re-enforcement of its own code, I'll tell you what history says will happen next: Public wrath will provoke the government to remove the administration of justice from the world of commerce. That means make the judicial system a quasi-legislative function. And that means "take the money out of it."

LETTERS FROM P-B READERS

Strategy for regaining title

Our recent loss of the Little League World Series title to the Orientals left me in utter shock and disbelief. How dare these "inscrutable" or is it unhittable frauds from the Orient humiliate us with their perfect games, no hitters, and numerous home runs? How can this disaster fall upon us? Did we not invent the game? We have been dishonored! We must save face!

I, therefore, make the following suggestions not only to regain that all important and sacred world title, but to keep it permanently.

First, we must require that these Orientals arrive here from their countries the day of the game, or the day before at the earliest. Since the body requires a few days to adjust to the time change, this would be quite an advantage to our boys.

Second, once they are here we must feed them only foreign food-foreign to them that is. This will not only weaken their bodies but also break their spirits.

Third, let us stick them in to a noisy hotel where they will be denied of decent rest and sleep.

Fourth, we must disallow rooters and supporters coming from their countries. The booing that we did this year must be intensified and organized better.

Fifth, we can require that Oriental players speak only English while they are our guests. Hopefully, this will prevent any hocus pocus from taking place in the ballfield.

Now, if the above have little or no effect, then, I suggest the following drastic measures.

First, since we are very fortunate to have a President who is an avid sports fan we must urge him to create a new Cabinet post — The Department of Sports with unlimited funds. Of course, these funds must come from private and corporate sources.

Second, we can threaten to cut off foreign aid to any country that has the audacity to take the title away from our poor and helpless boys.

Third, we simply must have the CIA investigate the possibility of the Russians financing the Orientals into humiliating us in front of the whole world. This could be a Communist conspiracy to take over the Sports World! After all, did they not just claim that they invented Doubleday's game?

Lastly, if none of the above works, then we have no alternative but to wipe them out of the face of the earth. Too drastic? Would you rather wait until they dominate us, too, in basketball and football? — Gene Cabalo, Chino

We read about it in our books and magazines and newspapers. We listen to it on our radios; watch it on our TV sets and movie screens; hear it bandied about in almost every conversation — Without a doubt sex has become the number one obsession with most Americans.

If the subject isn't sex appeal it's permissive sex, sexuality, sex deviation, sex education, or even sex discrimination. So it's small wonder that even very little children often become curious and a bit confused when they try to piece together some of the scraps of information they have picked up on this all engrossing subject. — Like the little ten year old who asked:

INSIDE REPORT

Senate will insist on bombing details

By Rowland Evans and Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — Although eventual Senate confirmation of Dr. Henry A. Kissinger as Secretary of State is not in doubt, President Nixon's ace diplomatic operative is going to be pressed hard on the secret U.S. bombing of Cambodia in 1969 when the Senate Foreign Relations Committee starts its hearings Sept. 7.

The fact that President Nixon, in his Aug. 20 speech at New Orleans, took full responsibility for the Cambodian bombing decision has not in the slightest diminished the senatorial appetite for a full-scale expose of how the decision was made and whether Kissinger himself will be able to justify it.

One reason: even Senators completely committed to confirming Kissinger are troubled by his future dual role as Secretary of State and also as the President's White House foreign policy adviser, in charge of the National Security Council staff.

Their question: will Kissinger give them the full background of the March 1969 decision to bomb Cambodia or will he claim executive privilege on grounds of his confidential relationship with the President? If the latter, Kissinger will risk raising senatorial hackles at a time when congressional suspicion of presidential power and secrecy has reached its high point of at least the last 50 years.

Issue has special spice

Moreover, what gives the Cambodian issue special spice is the fact that high officials now in the Defense Department, most particularly Deputy Secretary William P. Clements, left the impression with the Senate Armed Services Committee and the nation on Aug. 9 that the orders to falsify bombing reports in order to maintain total security and emanated from the Pentagon.

Clements, in fact, actually produced a now widely published document authorizing 14 B-52 strikes into Cambodian border areas adjacent to South Vietnam on the nights of Nov. 24-25 and Nov. 29-30, 1969. The document, which Clements indicated was the only one he could find in Pentagon files on the Cambodian bombing, bore the signature of Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, then chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and the initials "MRL" for Melvin R. Laird, the then Secretary of Defense. It was marked "top secret — eyes only" and dated Nov. 20.

So astonished was Democratic Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, acting chairman of the committee, when Clements produced this document that he telephoned Laird in Chicago (where he was addressing the National Legislative Conference) and warned him: Mel, they're trying to do you in up here.

As a former Air Force Secretary, Symington knew neither Gen. Wheeler nor Laird had authority to falsify bombing reports. Only the President himself could order an official cover-up of bombing operations against a neutral nation, together with the falsification of reports essential to make the cover-up work.

At the White House itself, the disclosure by Clements was received with amazement and chagrin. Clements's decision to finger Laird as chief villain in the hunt for Cambodian scapegoats was not appreciated, even though some cynics at first thought that Clements must have had White House authorization before producing the "top secret — eyes only" memorandum.

Clements operated on his own

In fact, he had none at all. Clements, an aggressive Texan who had hoped to be named Deputy Defense Secretary in 1969 (Laird chose David Packard instead), was operating on his own and apparently without the support of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Thus, the key document justifying the secret bombing policy was written not on Nov. 20, 1969, the date of Clements's memorandum, but the previous March 16 — just before the secret bombing started.

It spelled out the entire "press guidance" secrecy policy for the military to follow. One copy of this key document, obviously top secret and with limited distribution, is in the Joint Chiefs' files. However, Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, present chairman of the Joint Chiefs who was testifying with Clements Aug. 9, the day Clements disclosed the Wheeler-Laird memorandum, did not give Clements the Joint Chiefs' own record.

The real push for the Cambodian secrecy policy in 1969 came not from Laird and Wheeler but from the diplomats — the State Department and Kissinger — who knew that disclosure would gravely compromise the then Cambodian government of Prince Sihanouk.

The Senate will insist on all the intimate details from Kissinger. If he refuses them, his transition to the No. 1 cabinet post will have some rocky spots.

Cryin' over the crayons

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

Hire education is cerny a wonderful thing. One o' them college professors up to Fresno State has discovered that if you put eight kids in a room with only three crayons, you're going to have a fight. You coulda fooled me.

Kids don't fight, of course, in a dissertation or a scholarly publication. They exhibit aggression responses. A bloody nose is the result in either case.

As Dr. Heinrik von Morgan, the noted Viennese psychologist, said, "In America, when a child talks back to his parent, the father gives him one across the mouth. Ziss is wrong. First you must reason with the child, explaining the social and moral obligations within the family hierarchy — THEN you give him one across the mouth!"

Dr. Samuel Franklin, professor of psychology at Fresno State, recently decided to study why children fight — then relate the responses to violence in big cities and the growing demand for law and order. Pesonally I don't see a lot of guys being mugged in dark streets for their colored crayons, but that's the way the academic mind works.

Franklin called in for help on his project an animal behaviorist, Paul Leyhausen, and I feel that was pretty smart. If you're going to herd a lot of tough little moppets into a room with a shortage of crayons, I can't think of anyone I'd rather have on hand than an animal behaviorist. Unless it was an animal trainer.

Franklin gathered his charges in a room and told them to draw pictures — but he didn't leave enough crayons to go around. Then he presumably fled to an adjoining room where he could watch (through shatter-proof glass) the outcome of his experiment. I din't think he added many cubits to human knowledge when he observed and reported that the little chubs were at each others' throats within minutes. Any mother-of-four could have told him that without looking up from the dirty diapers.

Scholars don't say "The kids bashed each other," of course. Franklin discovered things like absolute dominance hierarchy, non-operative social behaviorisms, and 1.6 aggressive responses per child in four-person groups. Much tonier, you'll agree. agee.

Franklin used children, he said, because they are openly aggressive and less inhibited than adults would be in the same situation. You don't find gunmen frisking you for bubblegum cards or Hell's Angels going to the over ice cream sticks.

Still, social behaviorisms aside, a Fresno State professor would be in just as much danger from a roomful of crayonless small fry as from a carful of ex-cons.

The doctor comments

Liquor is sometimes used as tranquilizer

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — This is not an easy letter to write, but I hope to read your answer in our paper. It regards my husband, who is 60 years old. I feel guilty as I recommended my doctor to him, as his own doctor had left his area.

The doctor said his health was good, but because of his job and being a tense person, he recommended my husband stay with his bourbon at the end of the day as a tranquilizer instead of taking pills. This made me wonder, as my doctor always prescribes pills for women.

Instead of one strong drink daily, my husband takes two with only ice on an empty stomach, since he doesn't eat much lunch. Now he finds that whenever he does anything requiring any exercise he tires easily and is breathless. It's so ironic, because if the doctor had told him to cut out all alcohol he probably would have done so. I'm not a teetotaler, but I'm concerned about the effects of all this alcohol on his health.

Dear Reader — Alcohol is not a bad tranquilizer, but the danger in prescribing it to a person is just exactly what you have cited. A person can start using it too often and in too large a quantity. This in turn can lead to other problems which may be more serious than the simple nervousness which might have stimulated prescribing a tranquilizer to begin with.

Basically the problem of using alcohol and tranquilizers either one for nervousness is that it doesn't solve the underlying problem. One needs to get at the reasons for the nervousness and see if these can be minimized.

From your letter I judge that your husband is the kind of person who follows good directions readily. That is a plus in his favor.

Part of the problem here is that if you drink alcohol on an empty stomach it's very rapidly absorbed into the bloodstream, and you can have a high blood level rather quickly, causing inebriation, or at last the first stages of intoxication. As a general rule of thumb: one jigger of whiskey drunk slowly over a period of one hour is sufficient, preferably diluted so that it won't be absorbed too rapidly in the bloodstream, if you don't want to get too much of an effect from it.

There is about one-half ounce of alcohol in a jigger of most whiskey. It will take more than one hour for the body to metabolize that much alcohol. If one has several drinks they should be spread apart even further if he wants to eliminate problems from the alcohol.

I really don't think anyone should develop a regular alcohol habit, and I'm even opposed to the regular one-drink-a-day routine, if it becomes a "routine."

Rather than a tranquilizer or alcohol, your husband should start an exercise program. From your description of his present condition, this will have to be done gradually. To start with, I'd recommend he begin an evening walk. He can gradually increase these until they help build up his condition.

It's amazing how relaxing exercise can be for a person after a day that's filled with nervous tension. When one has developed his physical fitness level and is able to engage in some enjoyable physical activity, such as tennis, golf, swimming, or something of that nature, then this is one of the best and most healthy tranquilizers that a person can get.

Dallenbach makes it three straight

By KEVIN CLOE
P-B Staff Writer

ONTARIO — Excuse the old expression, but "when you're hot, you're hot."

That has been the story of Wally Dallenbach the past three weeks, and that was the story again Sunday at Ontario Motor Speedway.

Dallenbach, who had come to Ontario two weeks ago after claiming his first championship victory in 95 starts at the Tony Bettenhausen 200 in Milwaukee a week earlier, won one of the two heats of the Twin 100 qualifying races last Sunday to make it two wins in a row.

Then he capped a fantastic month of racing on the United States Auto Club championship circuit by steering his STP Oil Filter Eagle-Offy to victory in the fourth California 500 Sunday at OMS.

Wally collected his third straight victory by five seconds over Viceroy "Super Team" driver Mario Andretti, who finished second. The only other driver who finished on the same lap as the leader was Mike Mosley, who piloted his Lodestar Eagle to a third-place finish.

In averaging 157.664 miles an hour on the 2.5-mile oval at OMS, Dallenbach's victory pushed him into third place in the USAC Driving standings behind Roger McCluskey and Mosley. He is the first man since Al Unser in 1970 to win three consecutive championship races.

In a race which saw the drivers exchange the lead like a hot potato, Dallenbach didn't find himself in the lead for the final time until lap 189 when he passed Al Unser in turn two. Al had been leading the race when he pitted for fuel, but came out of the pits slowly and Dallenbach passed him.

The two cars dueled for the next three laps, but Dallenbach gained a little breathing room when Unser broke a gear box with only eight laps to go.

That put Andretti in second place, but Mario didn't think he had a chance to catch Dallenbach in the short period of time.

While most of the other drivers had to use anywhere from 10 to 12 pit stops during the race, Wally somehow managed to make only nine—and that seemed to make the big difference.

After pitting on lap 179, he was able to go the rest of th distance while the other front runners were scheduled to go for one more stop each.

The plan worked and Dallenbach found himself in front.

The one guy who was truly frustrated was Bobby Unser.

Not only did he lead the race for 62 laps—high for the day—but he also had an excellent chance at winning the race. Of course, that was until his Olsonite Eagle broke its wing.

On lap 135 while leading the race, Bobby lost a side panel from the rear wing of his Eagle and signalled to the USAC officials. The yellow flag came out and Unser pulled into the pits for fuel and repair. All the crew could do was tape up the holes left by the missing panel and send him back onto the track.

Bobby complained of bad turbulence coming from the loss of the panel, so Gurney ordered him back into the pits—this time under the green light—and the crew replaced the broken wing.

But the time, he got back out, Unser had used up a little more than four minutes and lost five laps on the leaders.

That's when Dallenbach took over for the fifth time. He led the race eight different times for a total of 49 laps.

The lead changed hands a total of 31 times, with 13 cars involved in the swapping.

As has happened in the past runnings of Cal 500, some of the front runners fell out of the race early.

Pole sitter Peter Revson ran into engine trouble and had to call it a day on lap 43 of the 200-lap race.

Jerry Grant, who was last year's pole sitter and in the middle of the first row this year, only lasted two laps when he hit the wall coming out of turn two after apparently sliding in some oil from Gordon Johncock's car.

Just prior to that accident, Johncock had blown his engine and dropped the oil on the track.

McCluskey, who leads the USAC driving championship this year and appears to have it wrapped up, was still running when the checkered flag was dropped and took a fourth-place finish—one lap behind Dallenbach.

Placing fifth was John Martin in the Unsponsored Special McLaren-Offy, while Sam Posey took sixth in his Norris Industries Eagle and Bobby Unser grabbed seventh.

Eighth place went to Bentley Warren in the Air Force Eagle-Offy, and ninth place was claimed by Al Unser.

A. J. Foyt, who experienced engine trouble late in the race, slowed down and limped around the OMS oval the last few laps in order to finish tenth.

Sunday was also a day of firsts at Ontario.

On four different occasions, a driver who had never led a USAC championship race paced the field.

John Mahler, Dick Simon, Bentley Warren and Lee Kunzman each led one lap sometime during the race.

Five different accidents brought out yellow lights during the race, with the first coming on the second lap involving Grant.

The second came on lap 12 when Johnny Rutherford caught the wall coming out of turn four.

He was running third at the time, but damage to the right hand steering arm on the car put him out of the race.

The third incident was the most incredible—involving Lloyd Ruby in a single car crash.

Coming around the fourth turn on the 26th lap, Ruby smacked the wall and sheared off both right side tires before finally coming to a rest at the start-finish line. The report was that he hit the wall several times, but he walked away uninjured.

On lap 34, Mahler and Billy Vukovich tangled in turn two, but Vuky was able to save his car and bring it around into the pits for fuel and any repairs needed.

But Mahler spun onto the dirt infield and back out onto the track before hitting the wall.

Six laps later, Vukovich retired with bad brakes and a burned up turbocharger.

On the 92nd lap of the race, Bentley Warren and Mel Kenyon spun in the short stretch between turns one and two — dragging George Snider with them. Warren and Snider were able to restart and pull away, but Kenyon's car had hit the wall—putting him out of the race.

He was taken to the track hospital for a check-up, but only appeared to be shaken up.

One other incident caused a little panic just after Rutherford's crash when John Cannon car caught on fire at the end of pit row while he was leaving the pits.

A total of 10 yellow flags were flashed during the course of the race, taking up 38 laps.

Italian lover Granatelli kisses the winner

New rules prevent Cal 500 holocaust

By CURT WEBSTER
P-B Staff Writer

ONTARIO — When the drivers, sponsors, and pit crew of the STP Racing Team look back on the 1973 USAC Championship season there will be two distinct memories.

One will be a daydream, the other a nightmare.

Wally Dallenbach's victory in Sunday's California 500 gave Andy Granatelli's dark red STP Eagles their second 500-mile triumph. It extended Dallenbach's personal winning streak to three, bringing STP's total to five wins in '73.

But in the midst of unprecedented racing success, there has also been almost unbearable tragedy.

Two members of the STP team that started the season weren't at Ontario Sunday.

Swede Savage, who drove the Number 40 Eagle earlier in the year, died nearly two months ago as a result of injuries he received in a crash at Indianapolis.

Armando Teran, a young member of the pit crew, was killed by an emergency truck at Indy, both attempting to aid Savage after the crash.

Granatelli, the STP sponsor, reflected on the bittersweet year while relaxing in the Ontario press box after Sunday's race.

"It's been the greatest winning season in racing history" he said. "We've had two big USAC victories, and two NASCAR victories."

(STP stock cars picked up 500 mile wins at Daytona and Pocono earlier in the season.)

"But when you talk about the tragedy," Granatelli winced, "I'd rather have not won a race."

Granatelli campaigned for reforms in the wake of the Indy carnage, and, according to Granatelli, those reforms averted possible tragedy on the Ontario oval Sunday.

On Lap 26, Lloyd Ruby's Commander Motor Homes Special Eagle hit the wall with its right side a number of times coming out of turn four.

The right side of the car was demolished, but neither Ruby nor drivers near the accident was injured.

In Granatelli's estimation, the fact that no fuel is now allowed on the right side of Championship cars kept the accident to the status of an "incident."

"If Ruby had been carrying fuel in that right side," Granatelli asserted, "there would have been a fire with four or five other cars involved and maybe some spectators injured."

In other words, under the old rules which allowed fuel to be carried on both sides of a car, Ruby would have touched off a holocaust — a tragedy that would have rivaled the Indianapolis spectacle.

In terms of monetary gain, the season has been quite profitable for STP. Gordon Johncock is the leading money winner on the USAC circuit with $244,658. Dallenbach's share of the $300,000 Cal 500 purse should be substantial.

The victory takes some of the taint off Johncock's Indy 500 claim. Johncock himself has expressed a disappointment that rain prevented him from claiming a "clean" victory, though none have disputed his title.

Johncock's bid to make it two 500-milers in one season was dashed on the second lap Sunday when his engine threw a rod and coasted to a halt.

Dallenbach didn't join the STP crew until after Indy. His record was undistinguished until a sixth place finish in the Michigan 200. On August 12, he grabbed first place in the Milwaukee 200, and then proceeded to win the first of the Twin-100 qualifying races last week.

Johncock had one other good finish, a second in the first of the Trenton 150's. Graham McRae, the third member of the driving crew, failed to qualify for the California 500, and finished 16th at Indy.

Four races remain on the USAC champ schedule, and anything further in the way of victory for STP would be icing on the cake.

When the season starts next year, one hopes that Andy Granatelli can enjoy success untainted by tragedy or second thoughts.

He deserves it.

Dodgers fading fast... and here come the Reds

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— You have to go back to June 17 to find the Los Angeles Dodgers with a smaller lead in the National League West than they have today.

On that date, it was a half game. Today it's just one game over the charging Cincinnati Reds.

The Houston Astros swept a three-game series from the Dodgers this weekend, trouncing them 9-0 on Sunday. Lee May drove in four runs with his 24th and 25th homers Sunday. He also homered in the Friday and Saturday victories.

Tonight the Dodgers open a three-game series against the Giants at Candlestick and San Francisco is a threat in third place only a half dozen games back.

Tommy John, 12-7, of the Dodgers faces Tom Bradley, 12-11, tonight. Al Downing, 9-7, goes against Ron Bryant, 20-9, Tuesday night and Doug Rau, 4-1, takes on Jim Barr, 10-14 in the final game Wednesday night.

Don Sutton, 16-8, the Dodgers' ace right-hander, will miss a turn against the Giants because of a sore shoulder muscle.

Centerfielder Willie Davis has a bad knee but may make it against the Giants. Second baseman Dave Lopes has a bad back.

The Dodgers could get only seven hits Sunday off Houston southpaw Dave Roberts and three of those came in the ninth inning.

With the bases loaded, Steve Yeager hit into a double play and Roberts had his 14th victory against nine losses. Claude Osteen started for the Dodgers and lasted only three innings, taking his seventh loss against 16 victories.

With one out in the first inning, Roger Metzger, Cesar Cedeno and Bob Watson singled for one run and May homered to make it 4-0.

In the third, two singles, a sacrifice fly and Tommy Helms' double made it 6-0. May's homer in th fifth made it 7-0 and the Astros got two more in the eighth on a single by Jim Wynn, a passed ball, a throwing error and Bob Gallagher's double.

After the 9-0 rout, manager Walter Alston said, "That may be the worst we've looked hitting and fielding for a long time. We haven't had too many lopsided ones. We had one in Philadelphia and now this one.

"I thought all along this would go down to the wire," he added. "I don't think it's a situation of blaming pressure for losing. If we can't stand the pressure, we don't deserve to win."

Dallenbach's luck better

By JIM FULTON

ONTARIO — Ontario Motor Speedway plucked another name from obscurity Sunday but Wally Dallenbach insists it took only a change in his luck, not himself, to gain the new prominence.

"I'm no different than I was three years ago," the winner of the fourth California 500 told the OMS crowd from Victory Circle.

Until three weeks ago, Dallenbach never had won a race on the U.S. Auto Club's championship trail in a rather undistinguished racing career that began in 1966. Before Sunday, his highest finish in a 500-mile race had been 15th.

But he made the right move toward reversing this kind of fortune by joining the Pat Patrick racing team and chief mechanic George Bignotti early this summer.

He took over the car Gordon Johncock drove to victory in this year's Indianapolis 500 and on Aug. 12 won his first championship race, a 200-miler at Milwaukee.

He made it two straight with a first place in one of the twin 100-mile races at OMS Aug. 26, then completed a rare hat trick in Sunday's big event.

Victory Circle at OMS has a way of rewarding the hard luck guys. Dallenbach's predecessors, Jim McElreath, Joe Leonard and Roger McCluskey, all had been short on USAC victories until their days of glory at OMS.

"If someone had told me it was going to happen in my lifetime, I'd never have believed it," Dallenbach chortled.

He had just received Ontario Mayor Howard Snider's tribute that his happy moment "couldn't happen to a nicer guy," as well as a kiss and hug from team sponsor Andy Granatelli.

Later, the 36-year-old driver from East Brunswick, N.J., in the press box interview, credited his association with Bignotti, Patrick and Granatelli for reversing his luck.

"It's been a long dry spell," he said. "But it shows if you stick by this sport, even though you get disgusted at times, it just takes a handful of the right marbles to change things. We had this today."

Two close encounters with accidents almost ruined Dallenbach's day. The first came when Johncock's engine blew on the second lap, spilling oil which caused Jerry Grant to spin into the wall.

"I hit the same oil as Grant," he recalled, "and it shook the car quite badly."

Later in the race he was right behind a two-car accident — he wasn't sure which one — and a tire came rolling across the track.

"I didn't see the tire until the last minute," Dallenbach said.

Bignotti, the mechanic supreme who now has two California 500 victories (he was Leonard's top wrench) along with his six at Indianapolis, allowed that planning for this race was difficult because of the on-board fuel limitations.

"We're glad to win this," he said. "We had doubts about the number of pit stops and yellow flags."

His successful gas mileage calculations included such considerations as counting only three laps for every five under the yellow light, he explained.

Second-place finisher Mario Andretti said he did his best to cut down Dallenbach's four-to-five second lead in the final laps.

"There was no way I could get any more speed," he said. "I tried, believe me I tried. I just could do no better."

Third place driver Mike Mosley had some praise of his own for the winning team.

"They've got everything down pat," said the former La Puente resident. "They know just what they've got to do."

And about the kiss from Granatelli, the rotund STP man suggested that Dallenbach or any other driver would be "glad to kiss me anytime to win a 500."

Responded Dallenbach:
"If that's what it takes, OK."

Jeter turns from goat to Sox hero

CHICAGO (UPI)—In sunday's case, John Jeter's forgetfulness could be excused.

The Chicago White Sox centerfielder forgot his sun glasses in the fourth inning Sunday and it cost his team a run when he lost a pop-up in the sun and it fell for a double. One out later, a single brought in a run for the visiting California Angels.

But Jeter had given the Sox their first run on a solo homer in the opening inning and helped out with a double in the Sox' eight-run seventh inning to boost the Sox to a 13-3 thrashing of the Angels.

The seventh-inning outburst was the biggest Sox rampage of the season.

Chuck Brinkman started the fireworks with a single and Jeter doubled him to third. Dave Sells relieved Clyde Wright and gave Jorge Orta an intentional pass before Jerry Hairston lined a two-run single. Carlos May singled home another run to put the Sox on top 7-2.

That finished Sells and brought on Steve Barber, who walked Pat Kelly to load the bases.

The Angels then brought on Dick Lange and rookie shortstop Bucky Dent greeted him with a two-run single and Tony Muser followed with another single to push across yet another run.

Brinkman, batting for the second time in the inning, singled again to load the bases and send Lange out in favor of Rich Hand.

Jeter then added the coup de grace of the inning, stroking his fourth hit of the game, a tworun single which gave the sox a 12-2 edge.

LEADER OF THE PACK — Mario Andretti (11), who finished second Sunday in the California 500, heads a field of five cars through a turn. Wally Dallenbach won the race.

Top seeds dropping out of U.S. open

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI) —The nine surviving seeds surveyed the carnage at the U.S. Open tennis championships today, and then five of them went to the wars, knowing that at least two more must fall in quarter-final play.

Ken Rosewall, seeded fifth, took on 16th seed Cliff Richey, Jimmy Connors, ninth, faced seventh seed Tom Okker and 10th seeded John Newcombe met Andrew Pattison, the Rhodesian who had put out co-seed No. 1. Ilie Nastase last week.

The day's fireworks began in the stadium with 19-year-old Vijay Amritriaj of India certain to drew a throng of fans following his memorable five-set victory over Rod Laver. Vijay will play Allan Stone of Australia, who had put out 14th seed Adriano Panatta of Italy.

Sunday, as Saturday had been Amritaj's day, belonged to 17-year-old Bjorn Borg, the darling of the British teeny-boppers at Wimbledon, who thus far has not drawn a giggling gaggle of American teenagers, despite a stadium crowd of 13,687 which included many single girls.

Borg caught third seeded Arthur Ashe off his game, and posted a 6-7, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4 upset. Not that the Swedish youngster played badly, but Arthur ruefully admitted, "I just could not serve, while my volley was terrible."

Borg readily agreed with Ashe's comment, and then, when asked if he liked playing here rather than Wimbledon, grinned and said, "I do because the girls leave me alone. They don't know who I am."

While Ashe was falling, Stan Smith tottered against the cannon-like play of Roscoe Tanner. The Lookout Mountain, Tenn., 21-year-old fought Smith point by bitter point in exhausting heat and humidity over the first two sets, winning the first tie break 5-2, dropping the second 5-3 when he elected to allow a Smith shot to sail over his head, confident that it was long, although he could have cut it off into an open court.

The ball, caught in the heavy humidity and light-breeze, fell like a shot duck, and kicked chalk to Tanner's dismay, and Smith's delight.

"It was the biggest point," Smith said afterwards. "I thought it was going out." Had it done that, Smith would have been faced with 4-4 score in the-tie break, facing Tanner's booming serve, and the possibility of being two sets down.

Smith was saved, and was relentless in his pursuit of the next two sets, closing out with a 6-7, 7-6, 6-4, 6-3 win.

The girls were in action—of a sort—Sunday.

Margaret Court, seeded second, found herself in a spot of trouble in the second set. Mrs. Court grandly swept the difficulty aside to triumph 6-1, 6-4.

Billy Martin fired as Tiger skipper

DETROIT (UPI) —Billy Martin, master manipulator of baseball men, is looking for a new job today because he isn't as good at managing himself.

The Detroit manager was fired Sunday with a $65,000 year to go on his contract. General Manager Jim Campbell said Martin's three-day suspension for ordering his pitchers to throw illegal spitballs was "a contributing factor but not the sole reason."

"It was an accumulation of things," Campbell said. "There comes a point where what's right is right and what's wrong is wrong."

One of those "wrong" things was the suspension American League President Joe Cronin slapped on Martin, 45, after reading the Detroit manager had ordered Joe Coleman and Fred Scherman to throw spitballs against Cleveland while alleged greaseball artist Gaylord Perry was pitching.

The New York Mets reportedly are interested in Martin for next season, a move which would return the fiery manager to the city where he was so popular as a player with the Yankees.

The clashes between the volatile Martin and baseball's hierarchy are nothing new. He was fired as manager of the Minnesota Twins in 1969 after leading them to a divisional title following run-ins with club officials Harold Fox and George Brophy. Owner Calvin Griffith said that change was for the good of the organization, too.

Jurgensen looks set for comeback season

By United Press International

The Washington Redskins had some bad news for the National Football League Sunday night— Sonny Jurgensen is back.

Jurgensen, who has missed most of the last two seasons with a separated shoulder and an Achilles tendon injury, relieved Bill Kilmer in the second half Sunday night with the Redskins trailing New England 14-7. Jurgensen, a 39-year-old veteran of 17 NFL seasons, then completed 12-of-13 passes for 179 yards and two touchdowns. He also engineered two other touchdown drives as Washington ripped the Patriots 35-17.

Jurgensen threw a four-yard TD pass to rookie Mike Hancock to tie the score and an 11-yard scoring pass to Alvin Reed. Moses Denson ran two yards and Duane Thomas eight for the other Redskin scores in the second half after Herb Mul-Key's one-yard plunge accounted for the lone Washington TD in the first half.

"Sonny was throwing exceptionally well," said Washington Coach George Allen. "He had good protection and Roy Jefferson and Charley Taylor were making good catches."

Chuck Fairbanks, the New England coach, wasn't too pleased with Jurgensen.

"We were doing pretty well until that old man took us apart," said Fairbanks.

Sports news in brief

BOBBY ALLISON goes for an unprecedented third consecutive victory in today's 24th annual running of the Southern 500 car race.

THE L. A. RAMS are in their regular season training camp at Blair Field in Long Beach today with a Labor Day practice scheduled. Seven players will be cut to get down to the NFL limit of 44.

DETROIT TIGER players expressed shock Sunday at the firing of their manager, Billy Martin.

"I never thought it would happen, knowing he had one year remaining on his contract," veteran Al Kaline said Sunday.

"He had some problems with a couple of players," Kalin said. "But the last couple of weeks were very hectic."

BILL DALY, manager of Puerto Rican challenger Joe "King" Roman, who was knocked out at two minutes of the first round Saturday by world heavyweight champion George Foreman, today accused Foreman of committing two fouls and said he would protest today to the Japan Boxing Commission.

Vera Miles: an exception to rule

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Among the most invisible souls on earth are the adult offspring of glamor girls still in the acting dodge.

Like bit players in a mob scene they generally are kept in the background.

One happy exception is Kelley Miles, the leggy and beautiful daughter of Vera Miles, who is co-starring with her mother this season in an episode of television's "Owen Marshall."

Mother and daughter first appeared together last summer in Jacksonville, Fla. in "40 Carats."

The ladies had lunch together at Universal Studios the other day after completing a scene for the television drama. Both were in high spirits. They behaved and looked more like sisters than parent and child.

"I love working with Kelley," Vera said. "Young people turn away from parental suggestions most of the time, but Kelley has learned not to be defensive about that. I make a few suggestions about acting and she listens."

"I learned about acting all my life," Kelley said, lighting a cigarette. "Mother dragged us (two brothers and a sister) on sets all over Hollywood and on locations everywhere.

"I rebelled against show business for years. I wanted to be a painter. Then I found out artists starve."

"So do a lot of actors," Vera said affectionately.

Mother and daughter only faintly resemble one another. Kelley, 20, is taller than her mother, her hair is longer and darker.

"I'll be 43 years old this month," Vera said in a burst of candor which left her press agent blinking in surprise. "I don't believe in hiding my kids like some people in this business do. But then I make my own rules. Always have."

Vera gives the impression of an artistocratic finishing school background. She is a farm girl from Kansas who came to Hollywood after being third runner-up in the Miss America beauty pageant.

"Everyone thinks mother is the fragile type," Kelley said. "She's usually out digging in the garden in blue jeans and sandals."

"I'm one of the best female wallpaper hangers in the country," her mother added.

Kelley moved away from the family home in Calabasas, Calif., last year to live in an apartment but she visits her mother and siblings almost every weekend.

"I wish she'd have a baby," said Vera, fully aware such an eventuality would make her a grandmother. "It would be better than having her drag that darned Irish setter to the house for visits. I'd rather change diapers."

Vera said she neither encouraged nor dissuaded Kelley from becoming an actress. "I've enjoyed my career," she said. "I still do. More good things have happened to me than bad.

"I hope Kelley enjoys show business as much as I have. It's a matter of keeping your balance. It's not easy, but a woman can be successful as an actress and raise a family, too.

"And who'd have thought a girl from Kansas would stick around in movies and television as long as I have?"

Senator serves a day in jail

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Sen. Paul Fannin, R-Ariz., served his mandatory one-day jail sentence for drunk driving Friday.

Maricopa County Sheriff's deputies confirmed that Fannin, who pleaded guilty to a reinstated charge after the original had been dropped in City Court, entered the jail at 9:45 p.m. Thursday. His time was up at 9:45 p.m. Friday.

Sheriff's deputies said the senator was in a special cell reserved for persons who must serve the one-day jail terms for drunk driving. They are not mixed with other prisoners the officers said.

He made Michael Landon a rich man

No tears for 'Little Joe Cartwright'

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) Michael Landon watched Little Joe Cartwright die without shedding a tear when the "Bonanza" series expired after 14 years on the air.

Pragmatist Landon was closer to the show than anyone else. He directed 24 episodes of the long-running horse opera and wrote 30 of the scripts. Thirty of the best of them.

Since NBC uncoupled the series last December, Landon hasn't worked in a motion picture or a dramatic television show. Costar Lorne Greene already is at work in a new series playing a detective in "Griff."

"I haven't done any serious acting because there hasn't been anything offered me that I wanted to do," said Landon.

In addition to the fortune he compiled on "Bonanza," Landon is involved in several profitable business enterprises. He wouldn't starve if he never worked again. But Landon wants to continue his life style in the high-income brackets and is anxious to return to acting.

In the past six months he has appeared on "The Hollywood Squares," at fairs and rodeos around the country (for eye-popping fees) and he has been busy at the typewriter.

He's sold his first script to a television show other than "Bonanza."

It's a one-hour romance for the new anthology series, "Love Story." Mike was also engaged by producer George Schaefer to direct the episode as the opening segment of the newcomer in October.

"I didn't write the script with this show in mind," Landon said during a noon break. "Schaefer asked me to direct it and I wasn't too sure at first. I was spoiled by the great 'Bonanza' crew and did not relish the thought of working with a brand new crew. But they are terrific.

"I've never written or directed as a calculated reason for earning a living. I wanted to assimilate and use the other elements of show business aside from acting. It kept me enthusiastic."

Landon said he didn't find 14 years of "Bonanza" monotonous. And he does miss the friendships of the show. But he is anxious to get on to other projects.

"Show business isn't the most important thing in my life," he said. "My family is my first consideration. I've been offered 35-40 scripts for television series pilots. Almost all of them have been detective roles, and none of them appealed to me."

Landon still is under contract to NBC for two television movies, both of which will be pilots for new series. Thus far he has eschewed several possibilities.

His connection with "Love Story" is solely as writer and director of the initial episode.

"The country is ready for some good love stories," he said.

"There isn't much opportunity to see them in theaters because they lack the excitment of physical violence. I guess movie producers are embarrassed about caring for people. They shouldn't be.

"Every time we did a 'Bonanza' segment based on an old fashioned love story the audience response was overwhelming."

Landon is a romantic figure himself. He is handsome, physically fit and flashes an engaging grin. It is difficult

"I'm being careful about becoming involved in a new series," he concluded. "I'd like to do another because it means I can get home every night instead of working all over the place on movie locations."

MRS. JOHN D. MANGIAGLI

The double-ring rites united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Santia of Pomona and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Mangiagli of West Covina.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore an a-line gown of silk organza with a re-embroidered alencon lace bodice, long bishop sleeves and a hem of lace. Her Juliet cap of alencon lace held her long mantilla veil trimmed in matching lace.

Miss Rosemary Santia, the bride's sister, served as maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Donna Kincyzk, Michele Steenbock Jolene Mangiagli and Regina Rapisardi. Angela Santia was the flower girl.

John Rapisardi was best man for the groom who chose Joe Mangiagli, Dave Nemeth, Roger Pomposello and Perry Santia to be ushers.

After returning from a honeymoon in Acapulco Mr. and Mrs. Mangiagli are making their home in Upland.

The double-ring rites were read by Dr. John Black.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Pomeroy of Pomona was given in marriage by her parents. The bride wore a gown of white cotton brocade with daisy trim. She carried a basket of white and yellow daisies, baby roses and baby's breath.

A sister of the bride, Mrs. Gwynne R. Brooks, was the honor attendant, and another sister, Mrs. Irene Ede, was the bridesmaid. The bride's niece, Stella Ede, was the flower girl.

Scott Isenberg stood as best man for the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Ellis of Pomona. Ushers were Dr. Randall W. Ellis and Timothy McGuire.

A reception at the home of the bride's parents preceded the newly wed couple's honeymoon trip touring the western states.

Birthdays for July, August and September will be celebrated at the Vicksburg Woman's Relief Corps meeting in the VFW Hall on Wednesday.

A covered dish luncheon will be served at 11:30 a.m.

Mrs. Velda Welbaum will provide the birthday cake, Mrs. Ernest Rinehart will decorate tables and Mrs. Virginia Spoonmore will be the hostess.

The corps will visit Camp Paige in La Verne to take 11 birthday cakes and magazines for the boys there on Thursday.

The local corps will work with the Covina corps to entertain Mrs. Lucille Oliphant, department president, during the month.

HAIR SLAVES, GO FREE!
Rid yourself of the Purgatorial agony of dryers, of the medieval shackles of metallic roller heads and the cotton candy teased tortured look. Let me emancipate you with pure scissor styling, that gives you freedom and freshness. Our lamp cuts, blower cuts, wash and wear, are for this era. Good for any age, any hair.
Also, No-Set Permanent Wave. No rollers and no pins. You may never have to set your hair again. The natural potential that every head of hair has its message to reveal to one who can hear it. I am that stylist. A little bit better than the very best!
